New state drug law softens penalties for possession

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Gov. Milton J. Shapp Friday signed into law a drug reform package that toughens the penalties on pushers and eases penalties on possessors.

Shapp said "the drug abuse problem in Pennsylvania is the greatest social blight" in the state today.

"In the past, people have looked upon drug abuse as a problem involving members of the lower socio-economic group, but that is no longer the case," he said.

"It has invaded every neighborhood and every segment of our population," Shapp said, "the problem is no longer confined to the squalor of the ghetto."

The laws, which will cost $7.5 million the first year and is scheduled to jump to $11.7 million in the second, sets up a special Governor's Council on Drug and Alcohol Abuse.

The package revises the state's Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act to conform to federal standards, provides for a state-wide system of 24-hour medical services and protects patients against prosecution.

The laws sharply reduced penalty for possession of marijuana. Previously, possession was a felony carrying a fine of up to $2,000 with a possible five years in solitary confinement.

The new laws make possession of any drug a misdemeanor and reduces the maximum penalty for possession of 30 or less grams of marijuana to $500 and 30 days in jail. The same holds true for possession of 8 grams or less of hashish.

Penalties for possession of other drugs in small amounts carries a maximum fine of $5,000 and one year in jail.

Under the old law a person could not be charged with selling drugs unless there was proof that an actual transaction had been made.

The new laws ask for proof only of an "intention to deliver," meaning the person must have more drugs than he can actually use.

The drug council will be comprised of seven members with the governor as chairman. Four of the members must be private citizens.

The law allows the council one year to come up with a comprehensive master plan for dealing with drug and alcohol abuse in the state. Then the council would update its plan on a continuing basis.

The council will also coordinate the drug programs run by many state agencies that at present have no central direction.

The council will also be empowered to set up a network of community - based round the clock medical services for persons voluntarily seeking help and arrested criminal suspects showing signs of drug use.

A person participating in these programs would be free from prosecution.

President aides admit Phase II aim untenable

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's chief economists conceded Friday that the administration might not achieve its Phase II goal of cutting the rate of inflation in half —to between 2 per cent and 3 per cent —by the end of the year.

Speaking for the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Chairman Herbert Stein and Marina V.N. Whitman, its newest member, gave no reasons for the administration's present uncertainty about the prospects of reaching the antiinflation goal it announced when Phase II began in midNovember.

But in testimony before the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, they said wage and price controls historically had run into trouble partly because of "resistance of one or another sector of the economy," heavy paperwork and tolerance of inflationary pressures.

They noted the labor walkout from the Pay Board, but said it "has not, as far as we can see, diminished the effectiveness of the board ..." Phase II's success, they said, depends largely on the determination of every American to make it work.

Stein and Mrs. Whitman also hinted at a gradual return to free market economy without controls, and declared that the worst of the recent sharp increase in food prices — particularly meats — was over.

It was the second time in recent months that the administration had lowered its sights in the effort to correct the economy. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said in late January that a 5 per cent unemployment rate was a more realistic goal than the 4 per cent "full employment" rate originally sought by the administration.

The Nixon economists said, "We cannot say we are sure that the system as it now exists will achieve our goal of getting the rate of inflation down to the 2 to 3 per cent annual rate by the end of the year ... we are not saying the program as now constituted will not achieve the target. We are saying that we cannot be sure it will achieve the target."

As Stein and Mrs. Whitman claimed success in reducing inflation and boosting production and employment, a nationwide organization of tenants petitioned the Rent Advisory Board for an immediate freeze on rents.

Charging that the board, which advises the Price Commission, had "placed financial advantage before human rights," Mrs. Bernice Crawley of Philadelphia, regional chairman of the National Tenants Organization, urged a simplified set of rent control regulations covering all landlords and helping tenants guard against exorbitant increases and retaliatory evictions in situations where increases are disputed.

"Tenants are still getting socked with giant rent hikes while their wages remain frozen," said Mrs. Crawley.

But Ivan Wohlworth, a Long Island apartment builder and owner, denied that landlords were able to make huge gains in profits. In most cases, he said, the bulk of rent increases cover higher taxes, municipal fees antipollution requirements for low-sulphur fuel oils.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., meanwhile wrote the Federal Trade Commission requesting an investigation of possible deceptive, false or fraudulent practices in newspaper advertisements by Giant Food Stores, Inc., advising consumers to "buy something else" besides high-priced cuts of meat, such as cheaper meats or nutritious protein substitutes.

Curtis also asked that the investigation include the Washington Evening Star and The Washington Post, which ran the ads but rejected one by another supermarket chain disputing the Giant ads' claims.

Nixon warns Russians

OTTAWA (UPI)— President Nixon, speaking before the Canadian Parliament, issued a veiled warning to the Soviet Union Friday to stop arming North Vietnam, in apparent escalation of a rhetoric campaign against Russian aid to the Communist offensive.

He also agreed with Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau to work for resumption of deadlocked trade negotations between the United States and Canada which were broken off Feb. 9.

Nixon, the first American president to speak before the Parliament in 11 years, made no direct reference to the intensified fighting in Indochina.

But he told members of the Canadian House and Senate and invited guests that "the great powers cannot avoid responsibility for the agressive actions of those to whom they give the means for embarking on such actions.

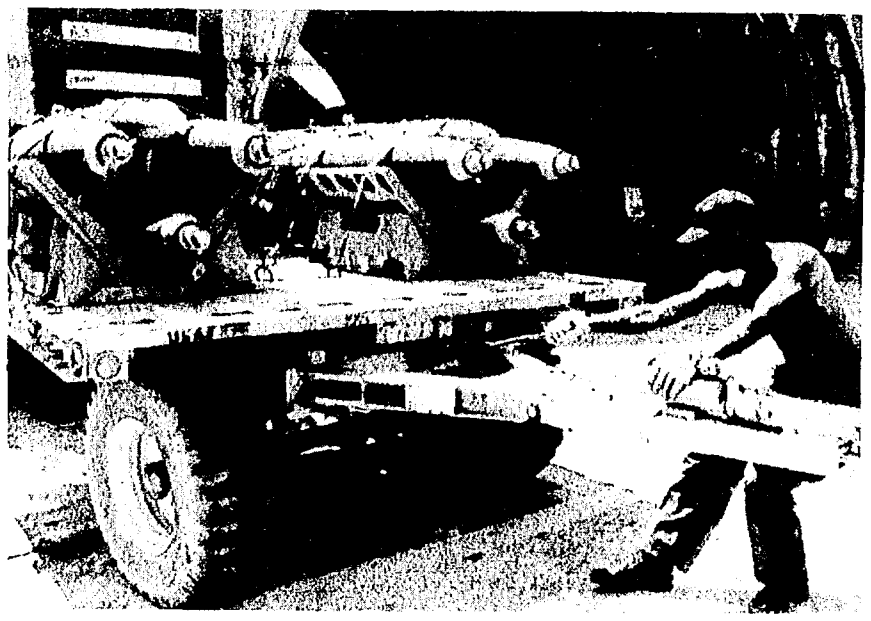
"The great powers cannot avoid responsibility for the aggressive actions of those to whom they give the means for embarking on such actions," Nixon said in a sentence ad-libbed into his prepared text.

At signing ceremonies for an international convention outlawing germ warfare in Washington on Monday, Nixon said "each great power should not encourage any other nation to use armed force against its neighbors."

During his 15 minute parliament speech, Nixon was interrupted 10 times by applause and received a standing ovation when he finished. Outside the halls of parliament, too far away for Nixon to notice, several groups of demonstrators, mumbering not more than 50, demonstrated against the U.S. involvement in South Vietnam.

Speaking about Canada, Nixon said the U.S. policy toward this nation "reflects the new approach we are taking in all of our foreign relations—and an approach which has been called the Nixon doctrine.

"That doctrine rests on the premise that mature partners must have autonomous independent policies (and) each nation must define the nature of its own interests," he said.



Air Force crewman loads bombs for North Vietnamese run

Reds' rockets hit Viet cities

SAIGON (UPI)—Hundreds of Communist rockets slammed into areas inside or near South Vietnam's two largest cities and the provincial capital of An Loc early today as U.S. B52s continued to pound North Vietnamese positions within the country.

More than 300 rockets hit An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, where 1,000 paratroopers landed Friday by helicopter to help fight a nine-day Communist siege.

South Vietnam's second city, Da Nang, came under heavy rocket and mortar fire and 16 Vietnamese civilians were killed and another 36 wounded.

For the second time in three days, Communist artillery also bombarded the big U.S. air base at Da Nang and a smaller helicopter base at nearby Marble Mountain where 19 U.S. Army choppers including one UH1 "Huey" utility helicopter were damaged.

The shellings followed only by hours a similar attack on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport. That attack Friday as the first against the capital in the Communist offensive, now in its 16th day.

Military sources said nearly 400 rockets in all hit Da Nang and the neighboring American bases Friday night and before dawn today.

Seven 122mm rockets hit the South Vietnamese military training center at Quang Trung, 12 miles north of Saigon, killing one soldier and wounding four.

No U.S. casualties were reported in the attacks.

B52 bombers flew 15 mission inside the country in the 18-hour period that ended at dawn. It was the ninth straight day they hit Communist positions near An Loc, striking in some cases as close as two miles. In the previous 24-hour period, 11 waves hit within one miles of the town, which was one measure of the Communist pullback there. One wave usually consists of three warplanes.

The offensive rolled on Friday except for a setback at embattled An Loc, where paratroopers of President Nguyen Van Thieu's elite palace guard drove the main force of North Vietnamese attackers from the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon.

Casey sues over jet

HARRISBURG — Auditor General Robert P. Casey and Republican Rep. Kenneth Lee asked Commonwealth Court Friday to cancel the contract by which the state bought a $526,000 turbo-prop. They claimed the sleek yellow plane, purchased for Gov. Milton J. Shapp's official use, was bought illegally with money from the state's Motor License Fund.

Rent freeze urged

WASHINGTON — A nationwide group representing tenants urged the government Friday to freeze all rents around the country. But a landlord argued that rental property has trouble making profits even under present limitations. Arguments on both sides were presented as the 15-member federal Rent Advisory Board — comprised of realtors, landlords, tenants and attorneys — held its first public hearing on the administration's rent stabilization program.

Apollo countdown smooth

CAPE KENNEDY — Apollo 16's astronauts completed months of training Friday, and the mission director reported everything was set for Sunday's 12:54 p.m. EST launch to the moon. The countdown moved flawlessly into the crucial final phases of launch preparations. Engineers reported things were going so well they were two hours ahead of schedule.

Amtrak adds to service

WASHINGTON — Amtrak will add to its western service this summer with more long-distance trains, and will increase Metroliner service in the heavily travelled New York-Washington corridor, it was learned Friday. Included is a new coast-to-coast route from New York to Los Angeles through Kansas City.

Mashed turnips mislabeled

PHILADELPHIA — The federal government wants to seize and condemn 7,800 packages of frozen "mashed yellow turnips" in eastern Pennsylvania because of mislabeling. The packages are currently in the possession of the Pet frozen foods division of Allentown, and elsewhere in the 40 county eastern Pennsylvania jurisdiction of the U.S. District Court.

Doolittle's Raiders gather

LOS ANGELES — Jimmy Doolittle and 43 of the men who flew with him for "30 seconds over Tokyo" to provide the first good news from the Pacific in World War II hoisted silver goblets Friday in memory of "those who have gone." It was the 30th anniversary of the raid on the Japanese capital by 16 B25s carrying 80 men from the aircraft carrier Hornet.

N.Y. legislator urges Tocks battle

By HUMPHREY S. TYLER
Ottaway News Service

GOSHEN, N.Y. — Legislator John D. Bright of Mount Hope urged the Orange County legislature Friday to oppose the multi-million dollar Tocks Island Dam project on the Delaware River.

Bright, who is the county's representative on the Tocks Island Regional Advisory Council (TIRAC), presented his argument in the form of a written report to the legislature.

A bill stating the legislature's opposition to the project will not be introduced until its May meeting, he said, so his collegues will have a chance to review the report. Copies were also sent to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the state's Department of Environmental Conservation, the Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC), and the six other counties in New Jersey and Pennsylvania affected by the project.

The recommendation for official legislative opposition to the project comes in the wake of growing local resistance to the dam. Orange County executive Louis V. Mills publicly announced his opposition three weeks ago.

Bright's main objection to the project was that its projected costs have spiraled to about $735 million with the recent inclusion of a $365 million sewage treatment system that federal authorities say must encircle the reservoir to protect it from pollution.

"The buying of a certificate of environmental feasibility at a cost of $365 million is the crowning touch," says the four-page report. The DRBC, which has the responsibility for building and operating the reservoir, recently adopted a plan to build the sewer system, because the federal environmental Protection Agency refused the certificate until a guarantee is given that the reservoir won't become polluted.

However, Bright's report states that "the final absurdity" was the launching of a "trial balloon" by the DRBC, proposing that another dam be built upstream from Port Jervis to protect the reservoir from polluted water flowing into it from the upper reaches of the Delaware.

"In such an eventuality" the report continues, "the sewer system would have to be extended perhaps to Callicoon (on the Delaware in Sullivan County). All the objections to Tocks Island would be applicable to the new lake and another dam would have to be built above Callicoon — ad infinitum until they ran out of river."

The Bright report complains that the proposed sewer system "is simply too large to be economically feasible. It would be the largest in the country, and the area doesn't have the population nor the economy to support its costs, which have been estimated to be as high as $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the area to be served by it.

"All in all, if this sewer project is carried out, the biggest single luxury of the local inhabitant and his single biggest expense will be using the bathroom," the report says.

The bulk of the report raises questions similar to those asked by several environmental groups opposing the project two years ago.

Trout season on

STROUDSBURG — Thousands of oddly dressed people, — mostly men — will be out whipping Pocono streams to a froth today, starting on the dot at 8 a.m. (Some may start a little earlier.)

These are fishermen, those long, slender whip-like things they are waving back and forth are fishing rods, and today is the opening of the 1972 trout season in Pennsylvania.

The weatherman has cooperated by forecasting rain, which is bad for picnics, but great for fishing, as every angler worth his salt knows. Happy fishing, but leave some for the rest of the season!

Steel firms hold line

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The nation's major steel producers Friday began to follow the lead of Bethlehem Steel Corp. to hold the line on price increases until after the first of next year.

U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer; No. 2 ranked Republic Steel Corp., and sixth rated Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. joined Bethlehem in announcing they would not increase prices on rolled steel products before Jan. 1, 1973.

The announcements earned the plaudits of President Nixon's Price Commission.

Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. called the move "an example of responsible leadership in the nation's drive to stop inflation."

Grayson said the move was important because increases in rolled steel prices have a trickle down effect on durable consumer goods and construction.

Rolled sheet includes all sheets, plates and structural shapes — more than 90 per cent of which is sold to auto and appliance manufacturers and the construction industry.

William R. Roesch, J & L chairman, in announcing his company's position on prices, said if the entire steel industry would follow suit it would help curb inflation.

Justice Dept. charges TV prime-time profiteering

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Justice Department charged in an antitrust suit Friday that the three major television networks had used their control of the air waves to gain a financial interest in most entertainment programs produced for prime-time television.

The suits asked that the networks be prohibited from producing or having any financial interest in entertainment programs or films shown during prime time, defined in the suits as 6 p. m. EST to 11 p. m. EST.

News, sports, public affairs and documentary films would not be affected. Networks also would be allowed to buy first-run rights to movies.

The suits were filed in U. S. District Court in Los Angeles against ABC, NBC, CBS and former CBS subsidiary Viacom, according to Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst.

The three networks, which were informed of the suits in a private meeting Monday with Justice Department officials, issued statements vowing to fight the suits.

NBC called the action "a suit against the public interest" and said that NBC produces less than 10 per cent of its prime-time programming. ABC and CBS issued similar statements, with CBS saying it produced only 8 per cent of its prime-time shows and ABC only 11.4 per cent.

The Justice Department charged, however, that the networks had used their positions to obtain substantial interests in prime-time programming. Quoting 1967 figures, the department alleged ABC had 86 per cent "ownership interest" in its prime-time shows, CBS 73 per cent and NBC 68 per cent.

Muskie calls for food price freeze

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sen. Edmund Muskie asked President Nixon Friday to order a 90-day freeze on food prices.

Touring central Pennsylvania, the Maine Democrat proposed what he described as a "new program to fight inflation by stopping unfair and uncontrolled increases in the price of food."

Muskie and George McGovern were to cross paths in center city Philadelphia. McGovern addressed a rally at Kennedy Center and Muskie walked the the streets just several blocks away, shaking hands with potential voters.

The price of white bread rose 30 per cent in Pittsburgh between 1969 and 1970, Muskie told a small crowd in York. During the same period, he said, the cost of rib roast soared 60 per cent in Philadelphia.

"The American people cannot afford this staggering rise in the cost of food," he said. "Administration officials admit that giant chain stores are apparently violating the limits on profit margins."

He said his proposal for Nixon contained three steps.

"First," he said, "the president should immediately impose a 90-day freeze on rising food prices. During this period, the cost of groceries could decrease, but not increase."

He said the only exception should be foods priced at abnormally low levels for seasonal reasons.

"The freeze could be terminated at the end of 60 days, but only if food prices had sufficiently stabilized."

West Coast dockers sue for pay increase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— West Coast longshoremen Friday filed suit in Federal Court against the Pay Board to force it to permit disallowed pay raises to be placed in escrow.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) said it had asked the Pacific Maritime Assoiation (PMA) to place in escrow the money difference between the amount negotitated in February between the ILWU and PMA and the amount approved by the Pay Board.

After a 135-day strike, a memorandum of understanding was signed that would increase 13,000 longshoremen's wages 26 per cent. On March 16 the Pay Board cut his to 14.9 per cent.

The suit, which named the board and its chairman, George H. Boldt, as defendants, said the reduction was "arbitrary and capricious" and was not supported by substantial evidence.

The suit said the ILWU did not know how much money would be involved but estimated it would be approximately $20 million.

The union asked PMA that the money be placed in escrow until such time and under such conditions as would meet with approval of the Pay Board or until controls are removed from wages.

The ILWU said it was told by PMA that the Pay Board had disapproved such an escrow agreement.

Called him in tears

ITT exec: Dita feared job

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An ITT vice president testified Friday that lobbyist Dita Beard telephoned him in tears to express fears for her job one week before a confidential memorandum surfaced suggesting a political deal was involved in the government's settlement of an antitrust case against the firm.

Edward J. Gerrity, vice president in charge of public relations for International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., said Mrs. Beard "for some reason" had been concerned for the past few years that she was going to lose her job and "had a great sense of insecurity."

He said he assured her time and time again that she was in no danger of being fired, and traveled to Washington several times to reassure her.

Finally, during the week of Feb. 14, she phoned him and "said she had reliable information that she'd be fired," he said.

"I told her she could have the job till she was 65 and we'd push her out in a wheelchair," Gerrity said. The conversation ended, he said, when a weeping Mrs. Beard told him: "There are three people in this world I love —you, and Bill Merriam (ITT's Washington chief), and (ITT president) Hal Geneen."

On Feb. 24, Brit Hume, an investigator for syndicated columnist Jack Anderson, appeared in ITT's Washington offices with the memo on company stationery and bearing Mrs. Beard's name and initial on it, linking the out-of-court settlement of the antitrust case against ITT with a company pledge to underwrite San Diego's costs in hosting the Republican National Convention next August.

U.S. 'tolerated' ITT's meddling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chile charged Friday that high U.S. government officials tolerated the alleged intervention of the ITT in Chile's internal affairs.

The charges were brought by Chile before the foreign ministers' meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS). The United States immediately asked for the right to answer at a later session.

Chile's vice foreign minister, Anibal Palma, also said his government objected to a recent White House policy statement on the expropriation of U.S.-owned businesses overseas.

The White House warned that the United States would cut off economic aid and vote against multilateral development loans for nations which expropriate American investment without "prompt and adequate compensation."

While Palma read his 27-page speech, the Chilean delegation distributed copies of a book entitled "Secret Documents of the ITT."

The book contains the English and Spanish language versions of the documents attributed to the ITT which show that the corporation allegedly tried to prevent the election of President Salvador Allende.

Police sweep Harlem for police attackers

NEW YORK (UPI) Massive police details fanned through the streets of Harlem Friday seeking "as many as 10 persons" in the shooting and critical wounding of a police officer at a Black Muslim temple.

A police spokesman said "We're using everything, even cops on horses" in the search for the gunmen. The suspects managed to escape a cordon of police surrounding the temple, apparently fleeing through backyards and over rooftops.

A police spokesman said "We have reports that as many as 10 persons fled from the building."

Police identified the seriously wounded officer as Patrolman Philip W. Cardillo, 31, married and a member of the force since May 15, 1967.

His partner, Victory J. Padilla, 28, suffered a facial laceration.

The two policemen, both in uniform, were attempting to enter Muhammad's Temple of Islam in West Harlem for an unknown reason when shots rang out and both fell to the ground.

They were taken by police radio car to St. Luke's Hospital where Cardillo was reported in "serious condition" with two bullet wounds of the chest. Padilla was treated for a facial cut.

Dozens of regular radio patrol cars, unmarked detective cruisers, emergency service squad cars, station wagons and trucks raced to the scene after it was reported that the suspects were barricaded inside the temple and possessed the two policemen's guns along with their own weapons.

However, when police stormed into the building, the suspects had fled.

Bomb plot trial off

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Four of five defendants charged in an alleged plot to bomb power lines, railroad and industrial facilities in the Lehigh Valley were granted a continuance of their trial Friday by federal court here.

Scheduled to go on trial May 22 are James Heiney, 22, Easton; David Heckman, 21, Bethlehem; Robert Rundle, 20, Easton; and John Vito, 51, Allentown. The fifth defendant, Steven Welsh, 18, Allentown, will be prosecuted as a juvenile.

Hijacker arraigned

LOS ANGELES (UPI) Attorneys for Ricardo Chavez Ortiz said Friday they would seek psychiatric examination of the Mexican-American father of eight who hijacked an airliner with an empty pistol so he could get air time on television and radio to present Chicano grievances.

The 37-year old unemployed short order cook was to be arraigned in federal court late Friday on charges of air piracy in the seizure of a Frontier Airlines 737 jet whose 27 passengers and six crew members were released unharmed.

Liberty Bell stays for now

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — U.S. District Court Friday was asked to halt the proposed moving of the Liberty Bell from Independence Hall until a hearing is held.

The suit, seeking a temporary restraining order against any such action, was filed by attorney Isadore Ostroff.

The suit sought to halt the move by restraining officials of the Department of the Interior and National Parks Service from entering into any contracts for moving the bell unless city council passes an ordinance authorizing it.

Ostroff cited a 1950 act which provides that before any such move can be made, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the membership of historic Christ Church, located nearby the Independence Hall Association and Carpenters Committee of Philadelphia must be consulted.

The suit maintained that the modern tower proposed to house the bell in time for the 1976 bicentennial celebration is three blocks from its traditional resting place and "is the worst selection that could be made."

Two children may be dead

Child beater feared suicide

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—A burly, 230-pounder accused of torturing his children dropped off his five-year-old daughter at a hospital Friday and then apparently drove to the Intracoastal Waterway, where a suicide note was found.

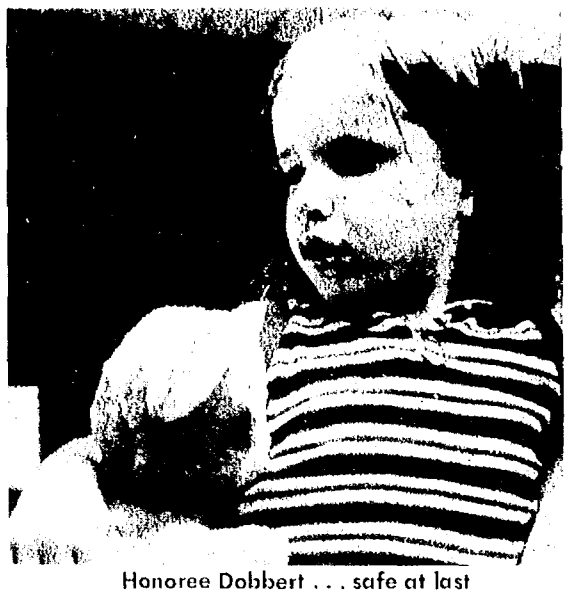
Authorities said Ernest John Dobbert, 32, left his daughter, Honoree, in front of Broward County General Hospital about 1:30 a.m. When located, the child was clutching two $1 bills and a note which read: "Help my daughter. Send her to her mother."

Police were still trying to find two other of Dobbert's children, Kelly Elizabeth, 9 and Ryder Scott, 8, although Dobbert explained in the suicide note that "they are in God's hands."

Investigators said the note, found on the seat of Dobbert's car and addressed to his wife, said Kelley died New Year's eve and Ryder Scott died on the night of Feb. 26

Authorities refused to release the full contents of the note, saying "parts of it would horrify the average person."

Dobbert came to the attention of police when his 11-year-old son, Ernest John Dobbert III, was found sleeping in the lobby of a Jacksonville, Fla. motel Tuesday.



Honoree Dobbert . . . safe at last

A doctor who examined the boy said all of his ribs had been broken at one time or another, one arm had been broken, an ear was in very bad condition and his vision was critically impaired by head injuries.

Doctors said the boy's back looked as though "somebody had run a blowtorch up and down it several times."

Police said Dobbert fled Jacksonville Tuesday night and made his way south to Fort Lauderdale with Honoree who was reported unharmed. His car was found about 3 a.m. parked under the 17th Avenue bridge about 100 feet from the Intracoastal Waterway. A note left on the seat of the car indicated he had leaped into the water.

Police said young Ernest told a grisly story about how he held a flashlight while his father dug holes to bury his brother and sister after they died.

The youngster stated his father awakened him Dec. 30, 1971, and told him Kelly Elizabeth had died of pneumonia. The child said his father told him the girl couldn't be taken to a funeral home because of "the scars like his."

The boy said he and his father dressed his sister in her best clothes and put her body into a plastic trash bag and placed it in the attic. He said they carried the body from the home about two or three weeks later when the stench became unbearable.

The boy told police his brother died in February.

West End residents look to PUC in dispute

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a four-part series regarding telephone boundary lines in the West End, and how they are dividing the community.)

By MAUREEN RUFE
Pocono Record Reporter

HARRISBURG — It is generally common knowledge the Public Utility Commission acts as "umpire" between the consumer and the utility, and most people realize the body tries to insure good service and fair rates for both parties.

Unfortunately, how the commission achieves this end, or, for that matter, how the commission is structured, is a "deep, dark secret" to most West End residents.

This is not so say the PUC has not tried to educate the public about its internal workings; on the contrary, the reverse is true. Unfortunately, as is the case with other things in life, residents really don't care what the PUC does until they find themselves in a predicament and need the commission's help.

This is the situation many West End residents find themselves in right now. They are concerned about the intersection of three telephone boundary lines in the West End. Many citizens complain the territory break-up has caused toe formation of separate social and psychological divisions in this rural part of the county.

Since negotiations between Bell, Commonwealth and Palmerton Telephone and members of the Western Pocono Lions and Jaycees broke off in December, residents are looking to the PUC to intercede on their behalf.

The problem is people are in doubt about how to make a complaint to the PUC, where the commission has offices, if a petition would be more effective, or for that matter, how the PUC is set up.

Basically, the PUC is composed of five members appointed by the governor and confirmed by a two-thirds majority vote of the Senate.

A member designated by the governor acts as chairman and the term of each appointment is 10 years. It is the job of the commission to "administer and enforce the Public Utility Law, which provides a basis for state-wide regulation of utilities."

According to a PUC spokesman, the commission employs approximately 350 persons, including rate and service experts, service engineers, accountants, lawyers and other specialists in the utility fields. The commission staff is divided into five bureaus: the Law Bureau, the Secretary's Bureau and three technical bureaus — Investigations, Service and Enforcement, Rates and Research and Transportation.

It is interesting to note the commission follows up numerous questions and complaints each year from individual consumers as well as larger interest groups or municipal representatives. At times, the commission also initiates actions on its own.

"The commission is glad to investigate complaints; it usually checks into these things informally," said a Harrisburg PUC official. "It checks with the complaintants involved; the main function of the commission is to serve as intermediary between public utilities and the consumer."

Request necessary

In order for West End residents to alert the PUC to their boundary dispute, any interested citizen could send a letter to the commission requesting an investigation on the matter.

The request would be handled informally by the Investigation Bureau. If a letter or phone call from the commission would not satisfy the West End resident or residents, a joint conference would probably be scheduled with PUC members and interested parties.

In investigations of this type, the PUC asks for the cooperation of the local phone companies involved in the dispute. One factor, which is important in boundary disputes, is something called community of interest.

This is actually a measure of calling volumes to a given point or, how many calls are placed from one point to another. More specifically, in order to get extended area telephone service, West End residents would have to demonstrate they made a substantial number of calls to neighboring districts.

In line with this, the PUC engineer pointed out for every toll call placed through an independent telephone company (such as Palmerton or Commonwealth) that company only receives one flat rate.

This means if the number of low cost calls (short distance calls like those between the three West End territories) is high, the independent company is in much better shape financially.

It is also important to realize in Pennsylvania, according to the PUC engineer, two thirds of the state and 20 per cent or less customers are served by independent companies. One third of Pennsylvania or 80 per cent or more customers are served by Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania.

Formal inquiry

When informal methods do not suffice, a formal investigation is usually instituted on the commission's own motion. Also, an individual can fill out a formal complaint form and mail it to the Secretary or any of the commission members.

The form assigns a docket number to the complaint and asks for the name and address of the complaintant, the name and address of the complaintant's attorney, the respondent utility and a succinct statement on the subject of the complaint.

Public hearings are held weekly by the commission throughout the state. In addition to its main offices in Harrisburg, the commission also maintains offices in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Altoona.

As the result of a time-saving 1962 hearing regulation, a pre-hearing conference is held between counsel and utilities, the consumer and the commission. Here ground rules are set to narrow technicalities and actual hearing testimony is cut. At this time a hearing schedule is set.

Specifically regarding the West End's boundary controversy, the PUC engineer indicated controversies of this type are not too frequent.

"Telephone facilities are engineered and designed to provide telephone service in a special area," he said, "as designed in a certificate of convenience to all present and future customers. One boundary change could disrupt the whole communications field in the state."

The engineer added that, although the PUC has forced some boundary changes, it has never ordered a change. He indicated circumstances and characteristics which might justify a boundary relocation were so diversified and special to individual cases, that it would be impossible to enumerate them.

Commonwealth law requires utilities to furnish and maintain adequate, efficient, safe and reasonable service and facilities. The law provides rates for service must be just and reasonable.

West End residents are wondering if, under that law, they have a justified complaint regarding the telephone boundaries dividing their communities. The question is now will the PUC be able to intervene in the situation and give the consumers the extended service they want while still being fair to the phone companies?

Where it's at?

By NORMAN B. LEHDE

It seemed much more like spring in Lancaster County than in the mountains of the Pocono region. Looking out across the freshly plowed fields, one noted new green in distant meadows and a hint of color in a lonely tree.

On Sunday, spirited horses whisked carriages along highways and byways. Carriages that might have belonged to another century until one noticed the presence of red reflectors to catch the headlight beams of the modern motorist.

This is the land of the "Pennsylvania Dutch," to some a people symbolic of the Commonwealth itself. There are those who consider the "Plain People", with their scorn of modern equipment, unique dress, deep religious convictions and emphasis on perpetuation of a way of life, something in the nature of comic figures.

There are others who remember, with a special feeling of respect, how, after the flood of 1955, these Plain People went out with their own equipment to help clean the mud and filth from flooded homes as far north as Stroudsburg, a task they performed because they considered providing such help a part of Christian living. There are others who, more and more, are coming to believe that the way of life of the Amish farmer may be a living lesson in ecology.

But, one who has not visited the area in several years, notes changes. There are now many motels and new eating establishments. Tours are widely advertised. Even in early April there are many visitors to the region.

One learns, too, that land development is taking place. That farm land is being converted to other uses and there is much pressure, in the form of climbing market values, to sell. There are other pressures, too, on the Plain Peoples' way of live.

A conflict in educational concepts between them and school officials has drawn the attention of the American Civil Liberties Union. Their one room school houses are considered anachronistic to the modern educational scene.

In the "Dutch Country", with its miles of level, fertile soil, the last conflict between the Nineteenth and Twentieth centuries appears to be taking place. At the risk of being labeled an anachronism, we find ourselves rooting for the native.

College concert Sunday

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J. — Lafayette College Men's Glee Club of Easton, and Centenary choral groups will give a concert at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Reeves Building of Centenary College for Women.

The public is invited admission free.

Dr. John Raymond will conduct the Lafayette singers and Dr. Kenneth Powell the Centenary groups. This will mark the 26th year of Lafayette and Centenary having joint concerts.

The combined numbers will be two selections from "The Messiah" by Handel, "And the Glory of the Lord" and "The Hallelujah Chorus."

Centenary Singers will perform four selections from "Jesus Christ Superstar," Pipers a madrigal group and a Bacharach medley and Chamber Choir "Prelude" by Schumann with guest soloist Rosalind Powell, mezzo-soprano, wife of the Centenary director.

DelVal school board adopts '72-73 budget

MATAMORAS — On Thursday evening the Delaware Valley School Board tentatively adopted a $2,135,977 budget. Final approval will be voted upon at the May 11 meeting.

The 1972-73 budget, while higher than last year's figure of $2,029,448, will not call for any increase in the tax rate of 84 mills in the school district.

During the meeting at the Delaware Valley High School, conducted by president, Hazel Irvine, Gilbert Jacobson was hired as assistant superintendent at a salary of $17,250. Jacobson, who has been serving as assistant superintendent, has now received his letter of eligibility for the post from the Commonwealth and his commission is expected to follow his formal hiring.

District superintendent Dr. S. William Recker told the board that following a series of bomb scares at the high school two suspects have been apprehended through tracing a telephone call. He said since this was a federal offense the matter would be handled by juvenile court.

Kenneth McHale, Port Jervis, N.Y., was hired as a custodian at the middle school replacing James Sargent, whose resignation was accepted. John Seidenstricker of Hanover, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State College, was hired to teach physical education at the middle school.

Leonard Snyder, of Dingmans Ferry, was named board representative to Colonial-Northampton Intermediate Unit 20. The unit's budget calling for expenditures of $195,076 was unanimously approved by the board. The Board also went on record as opposing House Bill 2002 which would change the amount paid to school districts from the Public Utility Realty Tax.

During the early part of the meeting the directors heard talks on the districts adult education program by its director Henry Powderly and several of the instructors. Items made by class members ranging from paintings to needlework were on display in the library where the meeting was held.

Six stories is tall enough

It has always been our cherished contention, fed by the genius of Frank Lloyd Wright that, for beauty's sake, trees ought to be taller than buildings.

This obviously is impossible in the big cities, but not here in the Stroudsburgs. For that reason, we are pleased that county municipal officials rejected a proposal to allow eight-story buildings in the area.

It would take a hefty tree indeed to show its feathery top above eight stories of apartment building. The agreed-upon limit of six stories seems more adaptable to our environment here, since many types of trees can surmount that height.

It may seem like a picayune point, that business of trees being taller than buildings, but it isn't. Buildings have an angular, solid shape that can never be blended into the vault of sky. Trees, on the other hand, effect an easy-on-the-eyes transformation from the solid, land-bound to the airy dome.

The difference is vital to an area such as ours, which depends on its rural charm and aspect to serve as both a lure and a respite for the urban dweller who wants to look at the horizon and see something else but skyscrapers.

It is important that we keep this character alive in the Poconos. We are too close to the eastern megalopolis for comfort as it is. Once we begin to emulate our larger, choked neighbors to the east, we are lost.

We will become another tentacle of the urban sprawl engulfing the East Coast and the denizens of the megalopolis will look to other areas for an uncluttered skyline.

Watch that burning!

Scarcely a day has gone by in the last few weeks without at least one or more grass fires being reported in The Record.

The answer is obvious: We are in a dangerous season for fires. John Bitzer, district forester here in Monroe County, pointed out a week ago that this season, with its traditionally light rainfall and before the lush summer leaves have clothed the trees and green grass has carpeted the soil, is the most dangerous time of the year — apart from the fall — for brush, grass and forest fires.

Apparently, some people aren't heeding his warning. These grass fires are started by careless outdoor burning, area fire officials point out. Well, it's easy to see why.

After a winter's sloth, the typical homeowner is out to get his yard and grounds in shape as soon as the threat of snow passes and warmer temperatures are the rule. What to do with the resultant trash, clippings and other clutter? Why, burn it, of course!

There really isn't much of anything else to do with it, we admit. (That might make a case for our lack of a viable solid waste disposal system, by the way.) But the least you could do is be careful how you burn it.

Grass fires have a nasty way of spreading and becoming worse things — like brush fires, forest fires, and occasionally, house fires. Respect the season, the environment . . . and your home.

Medals replace money

By ROBERT SVENSSON

Medals keep getting prettier all the time. Just as a pretty girl does, pretty medals seem to be attracting more and more attention from coin collectors. It is not hard to understand.

Any collector who prizes beauty, or art, if you please, cannot help but become enamored of some of the handsome medals being turned out by top engravers and sculptors today.

It should be remembered that the medalist, the man who creates the designs, and the firms that produce them operate under ideal conditions.

Unlike the U.S. Mint they operate without restriction. They don't have to worry about whether the medals will "stack" well. So they can work in higher relief, which makes the design stand out in greater dimension.

Medals are produced in relatively small quantity compared to coins. Thus, quality control is greater.

Also, a variety of metals are available to the medalist. They can, and do use silver, gold and platinum which makes their product highly appealing to sophisticated collectors.

And finally, they are not stuck with a few designs. The engraver can give free rein to his imagination. He can choose from a limitless variety of subjects.

The Pennsylvania Story

'Pay day'

HARRISBURG — Had all gone according to schedule, today would have been "pay day" for Pennsylvania's breadwinning taxpayers — but alas and alack — the day of "reckoning" has been set back some 30 days.

The "pay day" in question would not have been a conventional payday, one in which the breadwinner receives his hard earned shillings and farthings — rather this would have been the day in which he paid out the shillings in the first final accounting of the Keystone State's new personal income tax.

Saturday was to have been the deadline for filing the state contribution, just as it is the final filing deadline for the federal income tax. The Shapp Administration now however has postponed this to May 15.

Filing date

This is interesting, for the new filing date for the day of reckoning is beyond the upcoming April 25 primary election — rather than a just-before-election reminder.

But regardless of whether Pennsylvania's sporting taxpayers finalize their gifts to Keystone State bureaucracy this Saturday or the equivalent Saturday in May, the simple fact is that when they do it will mark the beginning of paying a tax on their income not only to the federal government but also to their state government.

And there are those who will become victims of the triple-take, paying not only a tithe on their income to the federal and state governments but also to their local political subdivision if such a levy is on the local statute books (as for example is the case here in Harrisburg).

The state income tax though is the new wrinkle for Keystone State contributors to support their $3 billion-a-year bureaucratic conglomeration of sludge, waste and boondoggling.

This is the levy Shapp immediately urged be enacted almost before the ink was dry on his gubernatorial commission.

This is the levy fellow Democratic lawmakers in complete control of the Legislature speedily bought and passed.

This is the levy designed to produce $1.3 billion in additional new tax monies — before a budgetary rundown was even produced last year showing the needs.

It is true the levy does not contain the five per cent rate His Excellency initially called for, but there is nothing to stop the present 2.5 per cent rate from being upped now that the big hurdle of getting the impost on the books has been cleared.

The simple fact is that Pennsylvania is in an era of great spending — an era apparently demanded by the voting citizenry of the Keystone State!

After all, it was Shapp who ran on the campaign premise that increased spending accompanied by an income tax was absolutely necessary, while his Republican opponent, one Raymond J. Broderick insisted spending could be cut back; that an income tax was unnecessary.

Pennsylvania's voters had their choice — and they not only chose Shapp but they also gave him an arm-in-arm Legislature to rubber stamp his increased spending and tax ideologies.

But for many a taxpayer as he watches the chunks snipped from his paycheck under the new state income tax it is a hard pill to swallow.

No fun songs

WASHINGTON — I've been looking over the list of current hit records and there don't seem to be any "fun" songs on it. Just love and protest stuff.

Five years ago two hits were, "I Was Kaiser Bill's Batman" and "Simon Smith and His Amazing Dancing Bear."

People once thought kids were too silly. Now they're so serious even their music is boring. Grumble, grumble.

The next time you're out wildcatting for oil, I think you ought to know the "in" word for a huge field producing a million or more barrels. They're called "elephants."

For instance, Dr. Wendell Phillips, the oilionaire, is currently hunting "elephants" in Haiti.

Deep in the hearts of many of us, or so I suspect, there is admiration for anyone who can put one over on the big utilities. For instance, that college boy who managed to make free long-distance phone calls by whistling tone-perfect notes into the receiver is hailed in song and legend.

Comes now a friend of mine — who must remain anonymous — who told me how he outwitted the New York electricity people. It seems that he moved into a second-floor apartment over a restaurant and found, because the previous tenant had failed to pay his bill, that the electricity was turned off.

Despite his pleas to restore the power, he couldn't get the lights turned on until the previous bill had been paid, even though he had nothing to do with the old tenant. (This is not unusual — I had a similar problem with the New York power company myself.) Then he made a lucky discovery.

There was one socket in his apartment which ran off the power furnished to the restaurant downstairs. With that one socket, plus lots of extensions, three-way sockets, etc., he managed to light and power his apartment for two years! He never got the power turned on, he never got a light bill and, so far as he knows, the person who took the apartment after him is doing the same thing.

Naturally, the power he was using was being added onto the unsuspecting restaurant's bill. "But," he said, explaining his mild larceny, "I ate there almost every night, so it worked out even. The only thing I had to be careful about was running, say, a vacuum cleaner on an over-loaded plug. That could have blown a fuse in the restaurant. But I was careful and it never happened. Even if it had, they probably would have figured they blew it somehow themselves and just replaced it."

I think it's interesting to note that most of our cities have now almost completely done away with their streetcars, just when mass transit people are looking for now, cheap ways to get people back and forth across towns.

In 1922, there were 63,000 trolleycars running in the U.S. Now there are only about 1,200. (The other 61,800 are still around. Most of them are diners.)

You know it's an election year when Congressmen start writing to you, instead of the other way around.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Praises ESSC, Blacks

Editor, The Record:

East Stroudsburg State College is to be commended for its efforts to include greater numbers of black students in the student body.

And the black students are to be commended for their pluck in coming; the adjustment to a small white college after an urban ghetto must be exceedingly difficult. Both the college and the students deserve the support of the community, or at least to be left alone to work out the inevitable problems of a new situation themselves.

Therefore, I think it was irresponsible of the editorship of the newspaper to print the Kip Jubel letter; irresponsible to create storm and fury which will surely be injurious to whatever tenuous adjustments have been made within the college community.

Once Jubel's letter had been printed, you of course had to print Blair's. I am sure that you know your readers will be titillated for weeks now vicariously tarring and feathering Dr. Blair in your "Letters to the Editor" column. I for one will not enjoy it.

Discrimination meant choice

Editor, The Record:

Doctor Blair, in his "Freedom of Speech", is for dissent, he says, but will not allow a person's liking or disliking another, or his right to associate with whom he prefers. No one, according to Blair, should choose his immediate society, whom he will live next door to, or go to school with. No one should discriminate, that is, think. Blair assumes he can tell others what to think or feel, or how to live.

To discriminate used to mean one was intelligent until racists dragged the word down to their level. Respect for self and for others, not long ago, meant one was well organized, mature. But factions, and leaders of factions respect nothing. They have been spoon-fed liberal pablum for so long, we now have a physically mature generation of psychological infants learning the language of dissent. It is la dernier cri.

If one's raison-d'etre is "how unfair all are to me" he is in a cul-de-sac of martyrdom. Acceptance of being responsible, at least partially, for what one is, I think I read somewhere, is growing up. I read somewhere else one should look into the mirror of facts to see oneself.

Blair shows he thinks white and patriotic are insults. He tosses thunderbolts, but wants sunny skies. He shows disrespect for the national anthem and the flag, but wants respect from Americans. He encourages and emulates factionalism while calling others racists. Though the working people of this country pay his salary and most of the freight for his college faction, while it sits on its collective butt, Blair and company arrogate to themselves the right to insult the country.

When Berrigans are heroes, why shouldn't Blair be? It is chic.

CHARLES CHARBONNIER
Tannersville

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Record, too, has heard "la dernier cri" — the last word — on the Blair-Jubel controversy. We feel both sides have had ample opportunity to air their views and consider the matter closed.

Hart needs refresher course

Editor, The Record:

Last week's news brought the inscrutable Jeffrey Hart, drawing on his deep well-spring of ghostic sources of information, with his guaranteed-to-bewilder-conservative-and-liberals -alike cryptic intimation that, of all things, the U.S. was actually winning the war in Vietnam.

At the same time, the Christian Science Monitor on its front page showed an overflowing truckload of South Vietnam troops retreating toward Quang-Tri. They apparently hadn't the benefit of Hart's intelligence corps.

Would it be possible to take up a collection and send Jeffrey back for a refresher course in journalism and replace his Mitty-esque with Jack Anderson's "Washington Merry-Go-Round"? You would still have enough starboard ballast (Drummond, Bishop, Landers, O'Brian) to keep the ship on an even keel, with an occasional lesson in selective perception by Mr. Bonhomme thrown in for good measure.

Deserves big hand

Editor, The Record:

People are unaware of the fine work the newly organized group called The Margaret E. Club (with helping hands) has been doing for the people of this community in the short time of its existence to date.

Recently, Viola Bonser, president of the Margaret E. Club, with her group spent many hours preparing Easter baskets for all the retarded children in Cherry Valley. And too, for the children in the Reeders School.

It was a very warm day April 1 when they went to the Valley to play Easter Bunny. The Bunny suit was generously donated by one of the Department store in this community. The Margaret E. group helped to feed the children while a pre-planned entertainment program was being performed. The kiddies were greatly amused and it held their interest.

The club has received numerous calls from shut-ins whom they call upon and visit bringing food with them to enjoy together. This gives a great deal of happiness.

There are so many people outside our homes, who are never thought of, so this group surely deserves a big hand for the fine work they are doing.

Hypocritical Bingo games

Editor, The Record;

In all probability you won't print this letter, but you will read it, and at least someone in the press media will know my feelings and the feelings of many other people.

Bingo is illegal in this state, right? But it's played almost every night of the week in Monroe County you know it, I know it and everybody else knows it.

Now, most of the bingo games closed down during the week of March 26-April 2, Holy Week they call it. This is a laugh — a big laugh. Fifty-one weeks a year Catholic Churches, clubs and fire companies play bingo. One week a year everybody gets religion. How hypocritical can you get?

What hypocrites who run the bingo games, in saying that it is all right to gamble 51 weeks a year as long as you're a saint during Easter Week.

What utter hypocritical nonsense.

Foundation for Colitis

Ileitis and colitis are but two of the important diseases of the intestinal tract responsible for chronic debility and incapacitation.

A great many factors, both physical and psychological, are involved in the understanding, the treatment, the control, and the cure of these conditions.

When so many factors are potential causes, it takes consolidated efforts of diversified scientific groups to find a cure and seek a better understanding of its causes.

The National Foundation for Ileitis and Colitis, in New York City, was formed by a group of dedicated physicians in an effort to conquer these devastating intestinal diseases.

Dr. Henry D. Janowitz, of the Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City, is chairman of this foundation. He has enlisted scientists and physicians from all over the world to engage in this great research project.

To the pressure of their research, Ileitis and colitis are yielding their mysteries. Combined with mass education of the public, early detection, and earlier recognition, this must inevitably lead to earlier and permanent cure.

The National Foundation for Ileitis and Colitis, founded only a few years ago, deserves financial support to continue its pioneering investigation.

Dr. Erika Wick and a group of her coworkers in New York City have completed a study on the treatment of obesity. Using hypnosis, Dr. Wick, at the Institute for Research in Hypnosis, has gained a better insight into the many complex factors that play a role in obesity.

The knowledge accumulated makes clearer the reasons for the failures in permanent weight control. It is accepted that every approach to obesity is intimately bound up with psychological attitudes. Without the recognition of this, attempts at weight control must be fraught with frustrating disappointment.

Hypnosis, undertaken only by highly qualified and accredited people, may add much to the attainment of that elusive goal of the dieter. That goal is to take it off and keep it off.

Revenge or mercy decision

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — "Thou Shalt Not Kill," a documentary about two young men who murdered six persons and injured a few more during Christmas week in 1966 in Salt Lake City, Utah, will presented as an NBC News special Tuesday, (8:30-9:30 p.m. in color), on the NBC Television Network.

An interview with the two murderers was arranged by members of the News Department of the NBC affiliated station in Salt Lake City. Mike Youngren, producer, and Art Kent, then a reporter for KUTV, filmed the interview in the Utah State Prison.

The prisoners tell in great detail the story of what led up to the murders, how they committed them, what they did afterwards, how they avoided the police, and how they were captured.

They tell how they felt about the victims, how they felt about the survivors of the victims, and what their attitude is toward killing in general.

They talk, too, about their background, and a little about their home life and childhood.

Carl Stern will be the NBC News reporter, and Peter Jennings will produce the documentary.

The two convicted murderers, Walter Kelbach and Myron Lance, are natives of Salt Lake City and are now in their thirties. They are intelligent, articulate men. The first two of their victims were gas station attendants, the third was a cab driver, and the other three were killed in a tavern the young men shot up.

Kelbach and Lance were tried and convicted. The conviction was sustained on appeal, and the case, along with many other similar cases, is now before the United States Supreme Court for a determination of the constitutionality of the death penalty.

Although the interview was filmed in 1969, it has not been shown on the air until now, according to Donald Meaney, NBC News Vice President.

"The interview provides a fascinating and sometimes frightening insight into the minds of two killers and into their rationalization for their acts and their feelings toward humanity in general," Mr. Meaney said.

"Because of the current debate on the constitutionality of the death penalty, we believe this documentary will help the American people toward an understanding of just what is at stake when a community or a nation must decide between revenge and mercy, and at the same time provide for the common good of all."

The Supreme Court decision on the death penalty is expected sometime within the next few months. "It could come before the program is televised," Mr. Meaney noted, "but the timeliness will not be impaired, in fact, it may be enhanced."

Perplexed divorcee

An interview with the two murderers was arranged by members of the News Department of the NBC affiliated station in Salt Lake City. Mike Youngren, producer, and Art Kent, then a reporter for KUTV, filmed the interview in the Utah State Prison.

Pete Dixon (Lloyd Haynes) and Liz McIntyre (Denise Nicholas) learns that a former teacher is returning to school after her divorce in "Welcome Back, Miss Brown" on the ABC Television Network's "Room 222," Friday, 9:00-9:30 p.m.

April Showers Ball

Welcoming Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey (second from right) upon her arrival are (from left) Casimir V. Yanish, first vice president of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children; Mrs. Suzanne Martens, Mount Airy's owner and the gala's hostess; and Dr. Wesley White, White Haven superintendent and past president of the American Association of Mental Deficiency.

SWIFTWATER — The April Showers Ball held at Mount Airy Lodge this week for the benefit of the Burnley Workshop raised over $12,000 and looked like a star-studded "Who's Who" from Monroe County, Harrisburg, Washington and just about everywhere else.

Guest of honor Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey appeared astoundingly fresh despite an action-packed campaign swing through Philadelphia earlier in the day.

Dressed in a long, pink textured wool skirt and silk crepe blouse, she breezed through the lobby into a maze of photographers and well wishers.

And, ready to receive her with a graciousness that pervaded the entire gala was hostess Mrs. Suzanne Martens, Mount Airy owner, who had donated the entire ball from the lavish assortment of hor d'oeuvres and cocktails to the full-course roast beef dinner, dancing and entertainment.

Governmental obligations were temporarily put aside by a list of dignitaries that included U.S. Cong. Joseph MacDade and state Representatives T. Newell Wood, William Foster and Samuel Franks.

State Sen. Jeanette Riebman looked like a breath of spring in her long lavender and white checked cotton voile gown, dotted with embroidered flowers. Former Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine was there and, unable to attend, U.S. Cong. Fred B. Rooney sent a telegram and representative Skip Idukas.

The county was represented by its three commissioners with Mrs. Nancy Shukaitis looking particularly chic in a black and white print formal pantsuit. There were supervisors and borough council members, mayors and solicitors.

Mrs. Martens' (left) graciousness captivates one and all including the April Showers Ball co-chairmen Steve Marciw and Mrs. Samuel Newman.

Ball co-chairmen Steve Marciw and Mrs. Samuel Newman had obviously done a superlative planning job, assisted by Mrs. Kip Kane and Roger Cauchi at the publicity end, ticket chairman Mrs. Steven DeGeorge, Bill Johnson and Salvadore Palazzola from the Burnley, and Mrs. Walter Wyckoff.

There was dancing following the sumptuous meal until the wee hour of 2 a.m. to the tunes of King Henry's Band. There was entertainment from singer June Valle and there were telegrams and words of appreciation.

For the Burnley, which was represented by two of its clients, the evening was a significant landmark in an important period of its growth.

But, above and beyond, if one thing remains to be said, it's that Mrs. Suzanne Martens, truly the first lady of the Poconos, knows how to give one heck of a party.

It may very well be the subject of the upcoming Hess Brothers Flower Show with which Phillip Berman (right), Hess's president, is intruiging (from left) Peggy Walsh, Robert Uguccioni, Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau executive director, and Mrs. Berman.

Area women's club has installation dinner

BLAKESLEE — The Pocono Mountains Women's Club held an installation dinner recently at the Blakeslee Inn. Officers installed in the new club were Mrs. Charles Citsay, president; Mrs. William Sincavage, Jr., vice president; Mrs. John Haney, secretary; Mrs. Ronald Benton, treasurer; and Mrs. James Davenport, historian.

Mrs. Coray Miller, third vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, was in charge of the ceremony. Special guests were Msgr. Donald A. Deuel, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church, Bear Creek and Christ the King Church at Blakeslee; Mrs. T. Stewart Williams, president of the northeast district of Pennsylvania Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Russell Speicher, acting president of Monroe County Women's Clubs.

The Pocono Boys' Choir, under the direction of K. Bernard Schade, provided entertainment.

The next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 24th, at the Blakeslee Inn.

Area clubs set two meetings

STROUDSBURG — The Mountain Laurel Protectors Assembly of Tatamy, Easton, Scranton and Stroudsburg will meet at 12:30 p.m. on Monday at the Malta Temple, Main Street, Stroudsburg, for a covered dish supper.

ESSC students tour MH center

EAST STROUDSBURG — How a community mental health center operates was leaned on the spot Friday by members of a public health class from East Stroudsburg State College.

Members of the class were taken on a tour of the Mental Health Center facilities located on the sixth floor of the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Dr. Margaret Evermon, director of the center, said, "Usually we do not encourage group visits because it may disturb the in-patient population. However, because these are graduate students in allied profession who need and want to know more about our work, we made an exception."

The members of Professor George Ockershausen's study group include classroom teachers, health and physical education personnel and registered nurses from Carbon, Monroe and Pike Counties.

Mental health team

On duty personnel who are members of the mental health team described a variety of serivces and treatment program.

Covered were techniques used in emergency situations, therapy for individuals admitted as inpatients and continuing care for persons requiring only partial hospitalization after discharge from the inpatient unit.

The graduate students were told the average inpatient stay is 12 to 15 days, which according to officials is considerably less than experienced at other similar facilties.

They were also told that follow-up care after a patient leaves the center, is always part of the long range treatment plan. The purpose of the follow-up treatment is to insure that individuals receive comprehensive services at a critical time.

Dr. Evermon explained, "Out entire program relates to a primary concept we all share in caring for a disturbed person. Mental disease is a curable illness and if detected early enough may allow persons to lead normal steady lives rather than long term confinement in an institution."

Commissioners vote 'no' on program of Day Care

By GARY GROSSMAN
Pocono Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners Friday sounded the death note for government-sponsored Day Care in Monroe County.

In a special meeting called to announce the county's position on a program transfer requiring $10,000 of county funds, the commissioners said they were forced to unanimously vote against the proposal as it now stands.

Incomplete information, short notice, absence of data on alternatives and the limited clientele that would benefit from the proposed $100,000 day care program were the reasons given for the "no" vote.

"We are, however, in favor of persons in need of such service utilizing existing programs where possible, and heartily encourage new interests in this field by private enterprise," said Commission Chairman Mrs. Nancy B. Shukaitis, announcing the commissioners' decision.

"Given more time and information to settle a maelstrom of questions, our decision might have been affirmative," said Mrs. Shukaitis.

Commissioner William Quinn concurred with Mrs. Shukaitis as did Commissioner Arlington Martin who said pressure tactics on the part of day care supporters did not affect his decision.

Demonstration staged

Martin referred to a demonstration staged in the commissioners' office Thursday in support of the day care program.

In making their decision, the commissioners noted items in the manual describing the proposed program which require further exploration.

Mrs. Shukaitis said items not touched upon in the informal verbal proposal made to the commissioners a week ago included bookkeeping, nursing care, educational consultant, staff mileage and mileage for the transportation of children.

Following the announcement of the commissioners' decision, Mrs. Doris Hilton, president of the Monroe County Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said she thought the decision was disappointing.

Mrs. Hilton said the commissioners considered the proposal fairly, but were pushed for time. "If they could have had more time or seen the program in operation somewhere else, it would have made a difference in their decision," Mrs. Hilton said.

Time seems to have been the most important factor in the decision against the program deadlined for April 19.

Mrs. Ellen Park of the Children's Bureau Advisory Committee, said the advisory group did not have enough time to submit a considered recommendation to the commissioners.

Mrs. Park said the advisors endorsed the concept of day care, but were not allowed enough time for an in depth study of the program proposed.

"The present rush tactics are hard to reconcile in view of past experience," Mrs. Park said.

Miss Phyllis Kunda, executive director of the Monroe County Children's Bureau, said she will probably have to request increases in the bureau's budget in order to keep day care going in Monroe County.

Miss Kunda said she had explored the operation of a private nursery school since the decision was made by the commissioners. She said the operating hours of the private unit do not lend assistance to working mothers.

The commissioners also noted the program is available to school boards and "that this program is in the jurisdiction of education."

Miss Kunda said the program is basically a child welfare service aimed at meeting the needs of the total family. She said the educational component of day care was relatively new.

Senate committee to hear proposal

College faces budget test

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg State College will face a tough test within a month on its proposed 1972-73 budget by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

An original $10.2 million proposal was pared in March to $9.4 million from the Department of Education. ESSC officials defended that figure this week before a House committee.

The budget for this year is $8.4 million. The original request for an additional $1.7 million would go for 15 new faculty positions and 40 noninstructional appointments.

It's now doubtful whether that many will be employed if the altered proposal is affirmed, according to William Yost, college budget analyst.

The $9.4 million proposal breaks into two main categories: $6.9 million in salaries and $2.35 million in operating expenses.

For revenue, Yost anticipates $4.18 million from tuition fees, grants and miscellaneous funds.

The state is being asked to pick up the $5.23 million stack. If the budget is cut, it will be cut from the state's side.

The college employs 447 full-time personnel. Yost tentatively has figured nine additional faculty will be added to the 222 presently employed.

At an average salary of $14,000, not including benfits, $3.4 million would go for faculty wages. Maintenance employes now number 123, with an average salary of $6,300.

Another $1.4 million would go to over 120 clerical and administrative staff at an average $11,500 salary.

The federal government is expected to contirbute $174,000 for work-study students. ESSC matches 20 per cent of that, for a $209,000 total. Another $228,000 is expended by the college for students employed other than in the work-study program.

Close to $800,000 is expected to go for benefits for the employes.

Food services, on the operational side, account for a $600,000 expenditure in the proposed budget. Both contracted repairs and utilities are each figured at $300,000.

Educational supplies are estimated to cost $400,000 and about $200,000 will go for new books for the library. Maintenance and housekeeping costs are expected to be $200,000.

Moth plague 'livable'

BUSHKILL — Dr. Ralph Klawitter thinks the U.S. Forest Service will have the gypsy moth plague "at levels people can live with" within five years.

The forest service has been appropriated $1.4 million for five years to do this, he said.

Klawitter, assistant director in the service's insect and disease division, was one of the speakers Thursday morning at the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station convention at Fernwood.

He told a group of 100 scientists the success of the service's five year program depends on management and urged them to include the public in the planning process.

He amplified his remarks after his 20-minute speech. While parasite control falls under the agricultural research division of the agriculture division, he pointed out the forest service's assignment is to determine the moth's function in the natural environment.

The service must then determine how to use parasites as vectors of disease, infecting moths.

High hopes

While noting the forest group has "high hopes," he added it will be "several years before we know whether we can development operational systems."

He broke the forest service's function into two classifications: provide the public with information on methods of control, and then provide the public with these methods.

In addition to parasitic controls, he said researchers were studying predators such as white-footed mice, flocking birds, and predacious beatles which feed on the larvae before it feeds on foliage.

Feeding repellants

Ohio State University is also conducting research on "feeding repellants." Ashes and yellow popular are not prey for the moth, and scientists there are attempting to synthesize these natural repellants for application on other species.

The release of sterile males, thereby creating infertile eggs, may be another method of control, he said. Scientists are also beginning to produce large quantities of virus to spread disease to the moth. Safety tests with this technique have just begun.

But he added the moth "may never be wiped out. We don't know of any environmentally safe means to eradicate the insect," he said. "We may find one, but it's far in the future."

ESSC sets program for summer session

EAST STROUDSBURG — Summer session coursework at East Stroudsburg State College will begin June 5 and end August 25 of this year.

The undergraduate and graduate summer sessions will be divided into three sessions: A three-week pre-session to begin June 5 and end June 23; a six-week main session to begin June 26 and end August 4; and a three-week post session to begin August 7 and end August 25.

In addition to the regular summer session, a number of special programs will be offered.

An 11-week June-January freshman session will begin June 12 for students who qualify for regular college admission but who cannot be admitted in September because of lack of teaching staff and facilities.

Students attending the college under this program are encouraged to continue their studies in September at a community college and then return to ESSC in January as a second semester freshman, according to an ESSC spokesman.

Also, for the first time this year, a summer intensive study program will be offered. The program has been developed to help alleviate the prblems of the academic "underachiever." The program will stress the individual approach of teaching students the basic skills of reading, speech communication and mathematics comprehension.

The ESSC spokesman said the college program for academically talented high school students will be divided into two distinct programs this year.

In the program for high school juniors, now in its third year, students have an opportunity to sample college life and gain insight with respect to problems which may later be faced in the transition to college.

Students accepted into this program must rank in the top 10 per cent of their class, or if PSAT scores total 120, they may rank in the top 20 per cent of the class. A high school recommendation is also required.

The program for high school seniors, being conducted on a pilot basis this year, enables students who have been accepted for college admission in September to accelerate their programs.

Students participating in this program must meet the same high standards as required for juniors participating in the program for academically talented high school students.

Specialty programs

Specialty programs being offered through the college this summer include "Contemporary Europe 1972," summer study in Europe through the Pennsylvania Consortium for International Education and the Marine Science Consortium.

The European program offers a tour of 13 countries in Europe, departing from New York June 25 and returning August 4. Students may earn six semester hours of credit through participation in the program and upon the completion of an individualized project.

The eight-week program of summer study in Europe will be conducted at the University of Salzburg in Austria. Students may earn six credits through courses offered by faculty members from the Pennsylvania state colleges, and they will also have several weeks to travel throughout Europe before returning to the United States.

The Marine Science Consortium is sponsoring a 15-week summer program at marine stations located at Lewes, Delaware, and Wallops Island, Virginia. Students may earn six credits in courses offered by their faculty members in various areas of marine biology and oceanography.

Annexation of Stroud land may test status of Pa. law

EAST STROUDSBURG — The proposed annexation of 10 acres of Stroud Township by East Stroudsburg may raise the question of the constitutional status of Pennsylvania's annexation laws.

According to Assistant Attorney General Ellen Coggins, Pennsylvania's annexation laws are in a state of hiatus and have been ever since the state legislature failed to enact enabling legislation in 1970.

Miss Coggins said the 1968 passage of the state's new constitution called for uniform legislation on cross-boundary annexations within two years.

She said there might have been two bills introduced to provide that legislation, but none has yet been passed.

Until April of 1970, the statutes on the books prior to the passage of the constitution were valid. The status of those laws is a matter undecided by court action since the 1970 deadline for new legislation passed.

The status of annexation laws is an issue in the annexation ordinance recently passed by the East Stroudsburg Borough Council ordaining the assumption of property in Stroud Township owned by the General Electric Company.

G.E. petition

The borough council passed the ordinance on the basis of a petition from the General Electric Company. It was believed the ordinance would automatically take effect on April 26.

Stroud Township subsequently opposed the annexation move, claiming the 1968 constitution allowed for a duel referendum vote by the majority of citizens of each municipality to decide whether the annexation should take place.

Miss Coggins said the borough is probably operating under the assumption the old laws governing annexations are still valid since no new legislation was passed in Harrisburg.

No enabling laws

"If I wanted to challenge annexation, it would be on the fact there hasn't been any enabling laws passed by the legislature," Miss Coggins said.

Miss Coggins said her work with the state Department of Community Affairs had not provided any court precedents on the annexation matter the last time she researched the issue.

She said those annexations which have taken place since 1970 have not been challenged to her knowledge.

At issue in the local annexation is General Electric's desire to be tied into the East Stroudsburg's sewer and Stroud Township's reluctance to give up General Electric's taxes.

Planners to visit plant

STROUDSBURG — In the ongoing effort to find a solution to Monroe County's solid waste disposal problem, the county planning commission is making preparations for a trip to Franklin, Ohio, to inspect that city's recycling plant.

Knowledge of the operation was passed to the Monroe County Commissioners recently, following the exploration of landfill sits in Paradise Township.

Opposition to a landfill in Paradise Township sparked investigation on the part of a township committee into alternatives to landfill.

A representative of that committee brought a description of Franklin's total recycling operation to the county commissioners. He cautioned the commissioners not to delay on the recycling plant's possibility, if financial aid in setting up a similar operation would be needed.

Monroe County Planning Commission Administrator Douglas Williams, Commissioners Arlington Martin and William Quinn, and two other interested parties may be making the trip to Ohio near the end of April.

The recycling operation boasts total disposal of wastes and possible sale of separated materials passed through the plant. The plant is considered an innovation in waste disposal, being highly sophisticated technology.

Subsidies for two categories

Medical aid hits $725,315

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — It cost nearly one million dollars during the past fiscal year for the state to "subsidize" medical care for Monroe County residents.

There are two prime categories for those receiving such state-supported medical assistance: (1) — Those on public assistance, and (2) — Those not on public assistance under age 62.

Total cost for both categories for Monroe County residents during the past year was $725,315 — including an expenditure of $434,345 for those not on public assistance and $290,970 for those on relief receiving cash assistance grants.

Of the $434,345 expanded for the medically needy residents of the county under 65 years of age, $192,104 went for inpatient hospital care; $2,605 for nursing care in the home; $200,800 for care in county institutions; $39,436 for "miscellaneous" types of service (including services furnished primarily by physicians, clinics, dentists, and pharmacists).

For those on relief drawing public assistance cash grants, medical care for Monroe Countians resulted in an expenditure of $290,970 during the year, including $175,962 for inpatient hospital care; $75,008 for "miscellaneous" medical care; plus $1,944 for childreas' school medical care; and $58,742 in nonpublic nursing home care.

As for Pike County, the total cost for both categories was $59,955, with $22,612 for those not on public assistance and $37,343 for those receiving cash assistance grants.

Of the $22,612 for the medically needy residents of the county the breakdown is as follows:

Inpatient hospital care — $18,900, and "miscellaneous" medical care — $3,712.

Of the $37,343 for those drawing public assistance cash grants the breakdown is as follows:

Inpatient hospital care — $24,622; "miscellaneous" hospital care — $12,721; childrens' school medical care — $205; nonpublic nursing home care — $32,762.

Youths arrested for bomb threats

MATAMORAS — State police at Milford apprehended two juveniles Thursday afternoon and charged them with creating a bomb scare at Delaware Valley High School.

The school was evacuated both Thursday and Wednesday.

Court dissolves picket injunction

STROUDSBURG — Judge James R. Marsh has dissolved an injunction against the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Stroudsburg Local 501 for a protest picket of Redmond Finishing Co. in East Stroudsburg.

The union had set up a picket line to protest a jurisdictional dispute among building trades over the installation of equipment.

Commission to meet

MORRISVILLE — The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission will meet Monday in the administration building here.

Guilty verdicts in county court

STROUDSBURG — Two guilty verdicts were handed out in Monroe County Court Friday against persons living on federally owned land. Bringing charges in both cases was U.S. Army Capt. Joseph Zagone, of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

David Smith, of Shawnee, was found guilty by a jury of forcible entry. Richard Speaker, also of Shawnee, declined a trial by jury and was found guilty by the court of charge of unlawful entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Wise people

Several people wait patiently in line Friday afternoon to have a chest X-ray taken. The mobile unit was brought to the area by the Monroe County Tuberculosis Society. The van was parked on Main Street in front of A. B. Wyckoff's Department Store. At the same time, a diabetis test center was located inside the store.

Strike takes an old baseball meaning today

By United Press International

Major league baseball returns to 12 parks and to national television today, and the response of fans will be anxiously watched and appraised by team owners and players alike.

After a 13-day strike which created nothing much more than apathy in the public, it seemed doubtful the games would attract the usually high attendances opening days traditionally enjoy.

Tradition was one of the casualties of the strike, so that today's first games do not have the impetus of large advance sales, so crowds will be determined by gate sales.

Weather and attractive pitching or team match-ups will play a major part in luring crowds.

In New York, the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates will face the Mets' Tom Seaver, and the club said it had an advance sale of 12,000 as well as a commitment of 8,500 Midget Met admissions which would be honored. Ticket activity was reported as good, but the weather forecast was discouraging, with rain a possibility.

Montreal (Stoneman 17-16) at St. Louis (Gibson 16-13) 2:15 p.m.
Philadelphia (Carlton 20-9) at Chicago (Jenkins 24-13) 2:15 p.m.
Los Angeles (Sutton 17-12) at Cincinnati (Billingham 10-16) 2:15 p.m.
San Francisco (Marichal 18-11) at Houston (Wilson 16-10) 8:30 p.m.
Atlanta (Niekro 15-14) at San Diego (Kirby 15-13) 10:30 p.m.

American League

Minnesota (Blyleven 16-15) at Oakland (Holtzman 9-15) 4:30 p.m.
Chicago (Wood 22-13) at Kansas City (Drago (17-11) 3:30 p.m.
Boston (Pattin 14-14) at Detroit (Lolich 25-14) 2:15 p.m.
Milwaukee (Parsons 13-17) at Cleveland (Perry 16-12) 1:30 p.m.
New York (Stottlemyre 16-12) at Baltimore (Palmer 20-9) 2:15 p.m.
Texas (Bosman) at California (Messersmith 20-13) 11 p.m.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who replied to criticism of his role during the strike by saying he had been working behind the scenes, was to throw out the first ball for the Los Angeles-Cincinnati game. Again, tradition had lost, for Cincinnati had always had the honor of opening the National League season.

The Chicago Cubs were three men shy of a complete team as they worked out in 40-degree temperatures. The weather could be a factor in today's opening attendance.

"It's awfully difficult to estimate attendance," a club spokesman said, but added that the turnout could reach 35,000.

Chicago probably will use 24-game winner Ferguson Jenkins against Philadelphia's Steve Carlton in the delayed opener. Cleveland Indians manager Bob Aspromonte said he was worried about possible injuries to the younger players after the long layoff caused by the strike. He set up a cram spring training conditioning course for the next few days that will stress excercise to reduce the chance of muscle strain.

The Detroit Tigers went through a lengthy five-hour workout that permitted all 10 pitchers to throw some batting practice. Detroit's home opening day will be televised locally for the first time in history and club officials thought the telecast could keep the crowd attendance down to 35,000.

An estimated 16,000 will watch tonight's California-Texas opener in Anaheim, Calif., and another 10,000 are expected Sunday for the series between the two non-contenders.

Kansas City Royals owner Ewing Kauffman may protest the three-game series with the White Sox, claiming Chicago ignored league orders to keep their players from working out in major league stadiums during the strike.

Baseball fans, anxious to see the show finally on the road, are expected to be 25,000 strong for the Royals-Chisox opener.

Happiness is being able to go to work and New York Yankee pitcher Steve Kline proves it as he wears a big smile and an equally big hat to Yankee Stadium for a workout Friday. The hat, by the way, is a hand-tooled leather one from Hawaii. (UPI Telephoto)

Baseball seers aim for 1st win

NEW YORK (UPI)--Baseball forecasters go into the 1972 season with an 0-1 record. Who predicted a player strike?

Therefore, it's uphill all the way on the annual training camp predictions made by the major league managers, who are an unreliable lot of crystal-gazers in almost any year.

What we have on the record are six managers who believe they'll win division titles, eight more with strong contenders and an "iffy" chance to win plus an assortment of optimists who look for important improvement.

One result of the strike is that forecasters will have handy excuses if their best bets fail to come through.

The labor dispute that delayed season openers may have an enormous effect on how the game is played in the early weeks by athletes who lost valuable preparation time. Play in the National League East is complicated further because no one can predict how the New York Mets will react to the death of their manager, Gil Hodges.

The new manager of the Mets is Yogi Berra. Yogi seems more optimistic about the ball club than was Hodges in his spring remarks but, in any case, statements from both men will be omitted from this record.

However, for those who'd like to refresh their memories on what was said earlier this spring, consider these:

Earl Weaver of Baltimore, Bill Virdon of Pittsburgh, Dick Williams of Oakland, Billy Martin of Detroit, Charlie Fox of San Francisco and Harry Walker of Houston were the most optimistic.

Said Weaver: "I think we can win the pennant and I think we can be the first team in history to win 100 or more games for four straight seasons."

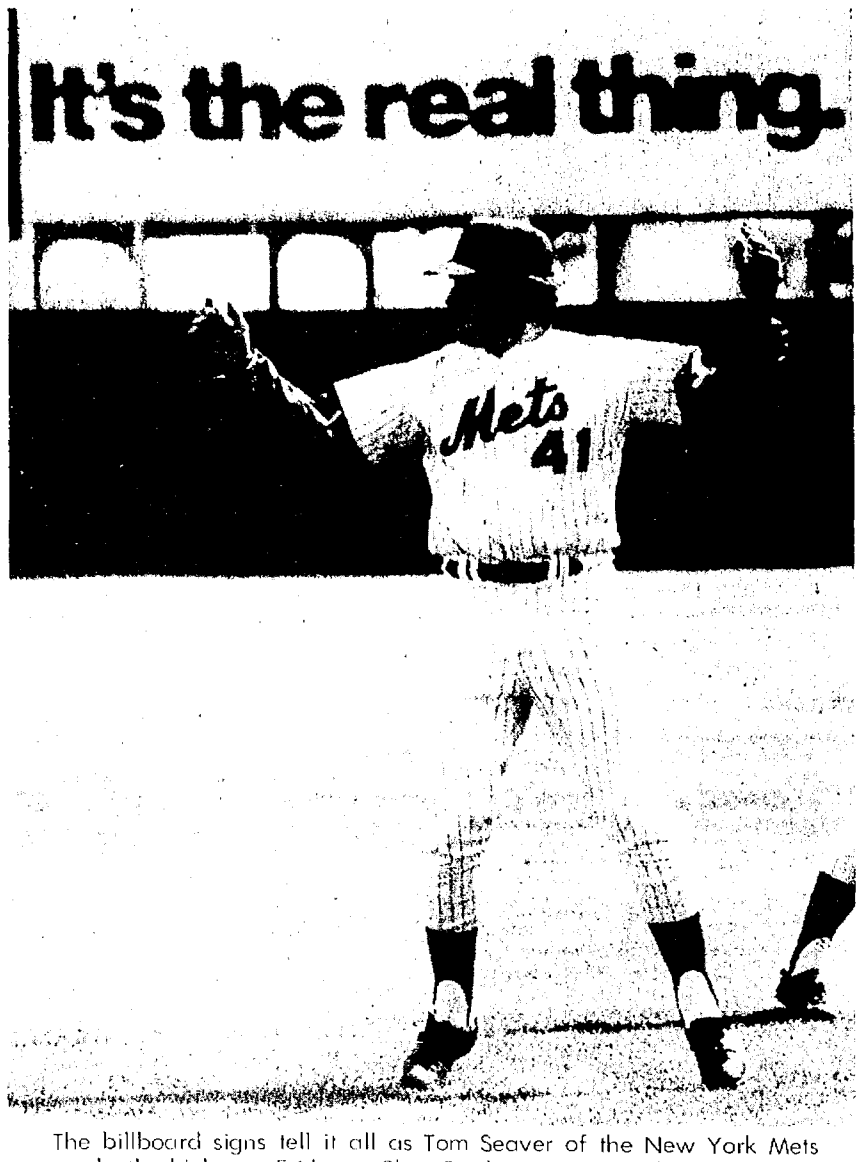
But, said Billy Martin: "I think we (Detroit) won the pennant the day Baltimore traded Frank Robinson to the Los Angeles Dodgers."

Virdon remained high on the World Champion Pirates as a team that gave all it had last year but "I think we've got the individuals that can give out that effort again."

Of Houston, Walker said, "We have some problems, yes, but I think we very definitely have a chance of going all the way."

Fox set a San Francisco lineup with Willie Mays as leadoff man and noted, "If I can play that lineup for 100 games, I think we've got a shot at everything."

Across the bay at Oakland, with pitcher Vida Blue among the missing but perhaps not forever, Dick Williams announced, "I think we'll win again . . . I'd be less than honest if I said otherwise."



The billboard signs tell it all as Tom Seaver of the New York Mets works the kinks out Friday at Shea Stadium. Seaver will pitch the first game against the Pittsburgh Pirates today as the baseball season finally gets going for real. (UPI Telephoto)

L.A. takes series lead

Lakers top Bucks, 108-105

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Gail Goodrich scored two baskets and a pair of free throw in the final 90 seconds Friday night to give the Los Angeles Lakers a 108-105 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks and a 2-1 edge in their western division National Basketball Association championship series

The final exchange came when Goodrich and Lucius Allen traded two free throws each to make it 102-101 Los Angeles. When the Bucks brought the ball down court following the Goodrich points, Jerry West knocked the ball away and Goodrich was free to drive in for a fast break layup.

Allen matched those points but Goodrich scored with a jumper with 18 seconds to go and two free throws by Wilt Chamberlain with five seconds left put the game on ice.

Los Angeles had lost seven games in a row on the arena floor with its last win 98-96 in February 1970.

Sponsor named for Pocono race

MOUNT POCONO — The Pocono International Raceway announced Friday the sponsorship of its fourth annual Modified Championship race set for Sunday, August 27, on the ¾ mile oval of the multi-purpose racing facility.

The 1972 event will be the "Flight 216" Modified Championship and is being sponsored by the Shawnee Oil Company of Plymouth, Pa., Flight 216 being the trade name of an oil additive, one of the numerous products manufactured by the Pennsylvania based firm.

Making the announcement was Dr. Joseph R. Mattioli, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of the Raceway.

The annual modified event at Pocono has continually grown in stature and prestige in eastern racing circles having started in 1969 with a $7,900 purse and a crowd of 7,200. This year the Flight 216 Modified Championship event will carry a minimum $22,000 purse and anticipated attendance is 17,000.

Sixteen qualifying races at tracks throughout the Northeast will be held prior to the August 27 Championship event. Each of the 16 winners will receive $50,000 cash and a guaranteed starting position in the $22,000 classic which will go 216 laps fitting to the sponsor's name.

Tickets for all Raceway events are available by writing the Raceway, P.O. Box 500, Mount Pocono, Pa. 18344.

Hill takes 4-stroke lead in Monsanto golf tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)— Slender Dave Hill forged into a four-stroke lead Friday at the midway point of the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament despite his earlier insistence that he was playing so badly he was worried about making the cut.

The 34-year-old Jackson, Mich., pro backed up his opening 64 with "an up and down like a yo-yo" 68 Friday to put himself at 10-under-par 132 and left unheralded Bob E. Smith, who lost a lot of ground with his 71-136, the only other golfer who appeared to be still within shooting distance of the hot-playing Hill.

"The Lord is still watching over me," quipped Hill. "Everytime I swing, it's a new idea. I hit more greens than I did Thursday but when I did get off line I wandered all over those woods.

"I'd like to go out there Saturday stoned out of my mind so I wouldn't think about all those trees," the outspoken Hill joked. "I'm ahead because those other guys haven't had my luck. But I won't predict a win. The way things have been going, I might get hurt out there and have to withdraw."

Hill's putter was nowhere near as hot Friday as it had been the previous day when he needed only 24 putts. Because of this, he went 11 straight holes in par before getting his first birdie of the day, with an easy three-footer, at 12.

Warriorettes lose

COLLEGEVILLE — Ursinus spoiled East Stroudsburg State College's lacrosse debut by beating the Warriorettes, 11-12, Friday. Polly Case had both goals for ESSC, which won the JV game, 5-4.

It happens every spring — sooner or later

Three baseball standouts get ready for the delayed start of the season today. At left, Baltimore Orioles pitcher Jim Palmer dries his hair after a workout. Palmer will start against the New York Yankees today. In center, Pittsburgh Pirates, slugger Roberto Clemente fouls one off during batting practice. At right, Rich Allen, controversial Chicago White Sox player, doesn't seem concerned about the opener. Allen just signed his 1972 contract two weeks ago.

Catty tops Mounties by 5-1

CATASAUQUA — Charlie Fearfoss spun a three-hitter as Catasauqua edged Stroudsburg High School, 5-1, in baseball Friday.

Fearfoss, a righthander, gave up first-inning hits to Nick Romano and Al McCormack and a second-inning hit to Romano and pitched perfect ball the rest of the way.

The Rough Riders wrapped up the game with three runs in the first inning with help of a pair of errors.

Stroudsburg tallied its lone run in the second as Gary Smith walked and was sacrificed to second by pitcher Bill Ueberroth. A balk by Fearfoss sent Smith to third and he scored on Romano's single.

Catasauqua added single runs in the fourth and fifth inning for insurance.

Ueberroth went the first four innings on the mound for the Mounties to take the loss. Stroudsburg's record is now 1-3.

Bears beat P.M., 8-2, on errors

BRODHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley took advantage of 11 Pocono Mountain errors to register an 8-2 baseball victory Friday.

The Bears struck for six runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to come from behind with help of Pocono Mountain miscues.

Righthander Rick Meixsell struck out 18 batters and allowed only six hits in gaining the pitching win.

Two errors gave Pleasant Valley a run in the second inning. Pocono Mountain went ahead, 2-1, in the fourth on singles by Rick Hull and Bob Lennon and Bob Peechatka's double.

Faron Frey had the big hit during the six-run outburst in the fifth which featured only three Pleasant Valley hits.

Overall, Pocono Mountain outhit the winners, 6-4, but the Bears played errorless ball behind Meixsell.

Tom Meschery, 33, resigned as coach of the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association Friday saying he wants to take a sabbatical from basketball. Meschery came to the Cougars a year ago from the Seattle Supersonics and finished fifth in the ABA East with a 35-49 record. (UPI Telephoto)

Poet-coach quits; will study sport

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) —Poet Tom Meschery resigned as head coach of the Carolina Cougars Friday to spend a year or two searching his soul about the game of professional basketball.

"Some things going on today stink," said Meschery, who spurned a contract to teach creative writing in college a year ago to become head coach of the American Basketball Association team.

"It's up to the men of the game to help the sport get back on its feet before it is too late."

Meschery, a published poet, allowed the public to decide what he was talking about.

His resignation came at the end of a troubled season in which Larry Miller joined the team late after a brief Army tour, George Lehmann disappeared during the preseason games, Joe Caldwell had physical problems and rookie star Jim McDaniels jumped to the NBA.

After a very poor start, the team staged a comeback but missed the ABA playoffs by a last-second basket in overtime.

He said he had nothing lined up other than to relax and travel with his family.

"I'm taking a sabbatical from basketball," said Meschery. "I'm leaving for a year or two to re-evaluate my thinking about the game of pro basketball."

Bob Weber hurls three-hitter

Pen Argyl squeezes by Bangor, 3-2

PEN ARGYL — Freshman Bob Weber hurled a three-hitter and didn't allow a hit after the second inning as Pen Argyl High School edged Bangor, 3-2, in baseball Friday.

Weber struck out eight batters and walked four in picking up his second win of the season. Mike Moser gave up only four hits, but took the loss.

Bangor jumped in front in the first inning as Mike Denicola walked, took second on an error and scored on a single by Neil Cataline.

The Slaters added another run in the second inning. Earl Sandt walked and Zane Bush and Pete Gheller followed with singles.

Pen Argyl's first run came in the third inning when Rhys Williams and Dave Snyder walked and Ted Long laced a single.

The Green Knights struck for the winning runs in the fourth. Mark Bray led off with a double. Bob Weber walked and Barry Fisher hit a single to load the bases. Steve Gerger drove in one run with a single and Williams lofted a sacrifice fly to bring home the eventual deciding run.

The win raised Pen Argyl's record to 3-1 in the Lehigh-Northampton League. Bangor is now 2-1.

Pius X tops N. Pocono in slugfest

ROSETO — Pius X High School tallied ten runs in the first inning and went on to defeat North Pocono, 15-10, in a scholastic baseball slugfest Friday.

Charlie Angelini was the standout for the Royals with a four for four performance including two doubles and three runs batted in.

Singles by Matty DePaulo and Angelini and Dan Catino's two-run double opened the first-inning explosion. Angelini later drove in three markers with a bases-loaded double.

Joe Diorio, Anthony Casicano and Catino shared the pitching duties for Pius X with Diorio getting the win.

The Royals are now 3-1. North Pocono is 0-1.

Fallenstein, Allen pace P.M. to 87-35 track win

SWIFTWATER — Jack Fallenstein tied an eight-year old school record as he led Pocono Mountain to an easy 87-35 track and field victory over Palisades Friday.

Fallenstein ran the 100-yard dash in 10.4, tying the mark set by Mark Mikels in 1964. He also remained undefeated in the 220-yard dash and placed second in the long jump.

Tom Allen cracked his own school record in the triple jump with a distance of 41 feet, three inches. His old mark was 39 feet, 3¾ inches.

Allen scored a double by winning the long jump, in which he is undefeated. Unbeaten Ed Wescott registered a pair of wins in the discus and the shot put.

Other winners for the Cardinals were Jack Rader (440), Ted Rennekemp (880), Mike Lilly (mile), Joe Martin (two mile), Kevin Little (high jump) and Jim Frailey (javelin).

The victory raised Pocono Mountain's track and field record to 4-0.

Bartleson, Dalrymple pace 'Paupack romp

HAWLEY — Mike Bartleson smacked a homer and Ed Dalrymple pitched a two-hit shutout as Wallenpaupack High School blanked Narrowsburg, 7-0, in baseball Friday.

Bartleson cracked a solo homer to deep leftfield to open the fifth inning. He also had singled home a run during a five-run outburst in the third frame.

Dalrymple gave up a pair of hits to Jay Noder in the first and fifth innings and handcuffed the other Narrowsburg batters. He struck out 16 and walked only three.

Run-producing singles by Bartleson and Brad Bidwell and Joe Granville's two-run triple highlighted the third inning.

Wallenpaupack's record is now 2-1.

Pen Argyl defeated in track meet

PEN ARGYL — Woody Petchel won three events, but it wasn't nearly enough as Parkland trounced Pen Argyl, 86½-35½, in a track and field meet Friday.

Petchel captured the 100-yard dash, shot put and long jump in an amazing display of versatility. The Green Knights won only one other event.

Scott Bobbin took both the high jump and triple jump for Parkland and Dave Cope took the two mile in the fine time of 9:57.4.

Maryanne Schumm (center,) East Stroudsburg State College archery coach, displays the letter designating ESSC as the host for the 1973 United States Intercollegiate Archery Tournament as the school's two top archers, Dave Saveri and Janet Kemmerer, look on.

ESSC chosen to play host to national archery event

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg State College will play host to the 1973 United States Intercollegiate Archery Tournament, it has been announced by the college division of the National Archery Association (NAA).

The tournament, which will draw college archers from across the nation, will be conducted on the East Stroudsburg athletic fields May 17-19, 1973. Maryanne Schumm, East Stroudsburg archery coach, will be in charge of arrangements.

It will mark the first time the national tournament has been conducted in the East. All previous tourneys have been held in California or Arizona.

The 1972 U.S. Intercollegiate Archery Tournament is scheduled for San Bernardino Valley College, Calif., May 11-13.

Men's, women's and mixed competition is included in the intercollegiate tourney. Shooting is conducted in a Columbia Round, American Round, NAA "900" Round and Middle Distances of the Federation of International Target Archery (FITA) Round.

The Pennsylvania State Archery Association (PAA) has agreed to help East Stroudsburg with the tournament. Dave Staples, president of the PAA, will be the official on the men's shooting line with Lura Wilson, Board of Governors of the NAA, serving as official on the women's shooting line.

East Stroudsburg placed fourth in the women's division of the United States Intercollegiates last year behind champion Arizona State, San Bernardino and Arizona.

The Warriorettes have been undefeated in dual meets for the last three years and won the 1971 Philadelphia Archery Association Intercollegiate Tournament.

Miss Schumm is scheduled to be in charge of the women's line at this year's U.S. Intercollegiates.

Stroudsburg bowlers set for tourney

READING — Women bowlers from 10 Pennsylvania communities, including Stroudsburg, will take part in a Bell Telephone Athletic Assn. tournament at the Colonial Hills Bowling Lanes today.

Fifty-five teams will vie for honors in the one-day 21st annual tournament. In addition to Stroudsburg, teams will represent Scranton, Williamsport, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Reading and Frackville.

Three Stroudsburg teams will compete for honors. They are the "STEMS" a team composed of Shirley Martin, captain, Lillian Sobrinski, Louise Transue, Robin Edinger and Helen Staples; "BRFC" — Joan Jenney, captain, Beverly Foley, Pat Garis, Ann Lyon and Carole Sommers; and "Dial Tones," Audrey Roberts, captain, Diane Spinner, Bea Bentzoni, Connie Smith and Dottie Eilenberger.

First, second and third place awards will be presented for high team singles and triples, high individual singles and triples and first place high team singles and triple scratch.

Oliver gets 13th spot in Rebel 400

DARLINGTON, S. C. (UPI) — Jackie Oliver of England, the fastest qualifier Friday, grabbed the 13th position for Sunday's Rebel 400 stock car race to become the first foreign driver to ever qualify at Darlington Speedway.

The Londoner was clocked at 143.5 miles an hour in his Ford, more than 5 m.p.h. slower than David Pearson of Spartanburg who won the pole position Thursday with a speed of 148.2 m.p.h.

Veteran Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., was the second fastest driver Friday at 142.2 m.p.h. and took the 14th position for the $85,000 Grand National race.

Joe Frasson of Golden Valley, Minn., and Larry Smith of Lenoir, N. C., claimed the 15th and 16th positions.

Smith, a veteran on dirt tracks, spun out on his rookie test but had no trouble in his qualifying run.

Bad fiscal tidings offset GNP hike

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. Gross National Product probably increased $30 billion in the first quarter of 1972, which is just about what the Nixon Administration hoped for, government officials said this week.

But this cheerful news was offset by several less favorable factors and some of the rosier developments were greeted with skepticism. For example, the stock market was up over the first four days of the week and for a time it looked as if the Dow Jones industrial average might break the 1,000 barrier. This prompted that veteran bear, Eliot Janeway, to predict in a television interview the market soon will break sharply and the Dow fall to around 500 by election time next fall.

No one else was anywhere near that pessimistic; indeed most experts who talked about business spoke in cheerful tones. But there was gloomy news. Retail sales turned down 10 per cent from the previous week and 3 per cent from a year ago. Sales of new domestic automobiles plunged a fairly steep 15 per cent from the 1971 pace in the first third of April and it was disclosed unemployment had climbed back up to 5.9 per cent in March.

$247.5 million order

Orders for railway equipment have dried up so much that Pullman, Inc., revealed it has shut down its Bessemer, Ala., freight car plant, idling 2,000. It was the company's first plant shutdown since the 1958 recession. However another Pullman division was low bidder on a $247.5 million order from New York City for subway cars.

The lower retail sales in early April were the more disappointing because Commerce Department figures showed March sales to have boomed 2.5 per cent above those of February and 8 per cent ahead of a year ago.

On the brighter side, hope that inflation really is being curbed rose with the revelation that wholesale prices increased only 1.2 per cent, a sharp drop from the February advance of 8.4 per cent.

Earnings good

First quarter earnings of major corporations were good to excellent for the most part. Firms reporting good gains over last year included RCA, Dupont, Columbia Broadcasting (whose net almost doubled), United Aircraft, International Paper, International Business Machines, Honeywell, Westinghouse Electric, Federated Department Stores and Polaroid. Celanese and Greyhound were among the few firms reporting lower earnings.

Floundering market still gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, still catching its breath from recent sharp gains, floundered around Friday, getting nowhere. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chip stocks managed to gain 2.19 to 967.72, its best level since the 968.85 of May 14, 1969.

Standard & Poor's broader-based 500 stock index, however declined 0.07 to 109.84. The average price of a New York Stock Exchange common share increased a penny.

Trading slowed to 17,460,000 shares from the 17,990,000 shares exchanged Thursday. Declines topped advances, 748 to 673, among 1,775 issues crossing the tape.

The market's condition indicates "it is in the process of forming a short-term top which means it could be about to start moving downward," Harry Laubscher, analyst for Walston & Co., said.

One thing that may have discouraged investors was the move by two of New York City's large banks raising their prime lending rates to 5¼ per cent from 5 per cent.

Another reason for the market's indirection, according to some analysts, was the day itself—Friday, when normally little happens. The market also continued to ignore the news.

Grand Union was the most active issue, off ⅞ at 18 on 443,000 shares, including a block of 300,000 shares at 17½. Bunker Ramo was second, up 1⅝ at 13½ on 250,800 shares.

CBS was third, off 2⅞ at 54¾ on 221,900 shares. Also on the active list were ABC, off 3¼; Viacom International, off 1⅞, and RCA, up ¼. The Justice Department filed antitrust suits charging the major television networks with monopolizing prime time programs.

On the brighter side, Gould Inc. rose 2⅞ after agreeing to supply Ford Motor Co. with 1.6 million batteries annually for cars and trucks over the next five yers. Ford fell ⅞.

REAL HORROR STORY!

Environmental Destruction!

What's happening to our environment? What's happening is a crime . . . committed against all of us, but unfortunately committed by all of us. Contamination, pollution, environmental destruction . . . these words spell out a real horror story, the story of what's happening to the air we breathe, the land around us, the living things that share our world, the water that supports life, the very life we live. Contamination, pollution, environmental destruction spell danger.

Fortunately, there's another word: Responsibility. It can change a story of horror into a story of hope and happiness. Our responsibility, to others and to ourselves, to generations yet to come, is to clean up crimes — the crimes committed against our environment. Each of us shares this responsibility.

If you ask, "What can I do alone?" the answer is simple. You alone can make sure that your home premises are neat, orderly and in good repair . . . that heating, plumbing, cleaning and cooking systems function with the minimum of waste . . . that home garbage disposal is handled cleanly . . . that you maintain your car in clean operating order . . . that you help keep all outdoors clean by refusing to be a litterbug.

To clean up the crime of contamination, clean up!

Apollo 16 timetable, from blastoff to splashdown

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke are scheduled for launch to the moon at 12:54 p.m. EST Sunday, April 16.

Here are the key events of the 12-day, 2½ hour mission. All times are EST, and subject to change:

Sunday, April 16

12:54 p.m.—Launch from Cape Kennedy with Apollo 16 reaching a 104-mile high earth orbit 12 minutes later.

3:28 p.m.—Saturn top stage refires and drives Apollo 16 toward the moon.

3:58 p.m. —Command ship separates from the Saturn stage, turns around and docks with the lunar module at 4:08 p.m. Nineteen-minute telecast of the operation starts at 4:03 p.m.

4:53 p.m. — Command ship lunar module combination separates from the Saturn top stage.

Monday, April 17

12:33 a.m.—Midcourse correction maneuver, if necessary.

3:54 a.m.—Astronauts begin eight-hour sleep period.

11:54 a.m. — Rest period ends.

7:25 p.m.—Second midcourse correction, if necessary.

9:59 p.m.—Duke enters lunar module, followed by Young five minutes later to inspect the lander and check its systems.

10:54 p.m. —Young and Duke return to the command ship.

Tuesday, April 18

2:24 a.m.—Astronauts begin eight-hour rest period.

10:24 a.m.—Rest period ends.

5:23 p.m.—Third midcourse correction, if necessary.

6:44 p.m.—Young and Duke enter lunar module for more tests.

8:14 p.m.—Young and Duke return to the command module.

10:54 p.m.—Astronauts begin eight-hour rest period.

Wednesday, April 19

6:54 a.m.—Astronauts end rest period.

10:23 a.m.—Fourth midcourse correction, if necessary.

10:53 a.m.—Astronauts jettison door covering command ship orbital sensors.

3:23 p.m. — A 6-minute, 15 second braking blast from the command ship's main engine places Apollo 16 in an orbit 196 to 67 miles above the moon.

3:24 p.m. —Spent Saturn top stage hits the moon.

7:30 p.m.—Apollo 16 fires main engine for 24 seconds to lower its orbit to 67-by-12 miles high.

11:24 p.m.—Astronauts begin nine-hour rest period.

Thursday, April 20

8:24 a.m.—Rest period ends.

10:42 a.m.—Duke enters lunar module, followed by young to prepare for the lunar landing.

1:08 p.m.—Command ship and lunar module separate with Mattingly remaining in the command module.

2:36 p.m—Command ship raises its orbit to 79 to 60 miles high with a six-second main engine firing.

3:29 p.m.—Lunar module begins its final descent.

3:41 p.m. —Young and Duke land on the moon.

7:19 p.m.—Young and Duke depressurize their landing craft for the first lunar surface excursion. The surface television camera is turned on at the same time. Young steps on the moon 10 minutes later followed by Duke in another 10 minutes.

Friday, April 21

2:24 a.m. —Mattingly begins 8.5-hour rest period in lunar orbit.

6:04 a.m. —Young and Duke begin 8-hour rest period on the moon.

10:54 a.m. —Mattingly ends rest period.

2:04 p.m. —Young and Duke end rest period.

5:44 p.m. —Lunar module cabin is depressurized for second surface excursion. Young steps on the moon 10 minutes later followed by Duke in another 10 minutes. Moon telecast begins at 6:04 p.m.

Saturday, April 22

12:29 a.m. —Duke returns to lunar module, followed 10 minutes later by Young. Moon telecast ends at 12:39 a. m. Cabin is repressurized at 12:44 a.m.

1:54 a.m. —Mattingly begins 8.5-hour rest period in lunar orbit.

5:39 a.m. —Young and Duke begin 8-hour rest period on the moon.

10:32 a.m. —Mattingly ends rest period.

1:39 p.m. —Young and Duke end rest period.

5:19 p.m. —Lunar module cabin is depressurized for third surface excursion. Young steps on moon 10 minutes later followed by Duke in nine more minutes. Moon telecast begins at 5:39 p.m.

9:23 p.m. —Command ship fires main engine 9 seconds to shift its lunar orbital path. Its new orbit is 66-to-71 miles high.

Sunday, April 23

12:09 a.m. —Duke returns to lunar module, followed by Young 5 minutes later. Cabin is repressurized at 12:19 a.m.

12:54 a.m. —Mattingly begins 8-hour rest period in lunar orbit.

1:33 a.m. —Lunar module hatch is opened and excess equipment is discarded. Surface television ends at 1:44 a.m.

4:09 a.m. — Young and Duke begin 8-hour rest period on moon.

8:54 a.m. —Mattingly ends rest period.

12:09 p.m. —Young and Duke end rest period.

3:12 p.m. —Lunar module hatch is opened and excess equipment jettisoned.

4:24 p.m. —Lunar surface television camera turned on.

4:39 p.m. — Lunar module takes off from the moon, reaches orbit 7 minutes later ranging from 10-to-52 miles high.

5:33 p.m. —Lunar module begins rendezvous maneuvers, raising orbit to 51-by 71 miles high.

6:14 p.m. —Command module television camera turned on for six minutes to show rendezvous operations.

6:44 p.m. —Lunar module docks with command module; telecast of the operation begins at 6:39 p.m.

9:49 p.m. —Young and Duke return to command ship, close lunar module hatch.

10:25 p.m. —Command ship jettisons lunar module, moves away five minutes later.

Monday, April 24

12:10 a.m. —Lunar module engine fired remotely to send it on collision course with moon, impacting at 12:33 a.m.

2:24 a.m. —Astronauts begin 8-hour rest period.

10:24 a.m. —Astronauts end rest period.

2:08 p.m. —Command ship shifts orbital path, moves into orbit ranging from 67-to-72 miles high.

Tuesday, April 25

12:44 a.m. —Astronauts begin 7.8-hour rest period.

8:34 a.m. —Rest period ends.

1:43 p.m. —Command ship raises orbit to 64-to-98 miles above moon.

2:56 p.m. —Command ship launches unmanned scientific satellite.

7:15 p.m. —Command ship fires main engine for 3 minutes, 30 seconds to blast out of lunar orbit and begin flight back to Earth.

Wednesday, April 26

12:24 a.m. —Astronauts begin 8.5-hour rest period.

8:54 a.m. —Astronauts end rest period.

12:15 p.m. —Midcourse correction, if required.

2:49 p.m. —Mattingly opens command ship hatch for space walk to retrieve film from mapping cameras; telecast begins.

3:59 p.m. —Mattingly returns to command ship cabin; telecast ends. Cabin is repressurized at 4:09 p.m.

Thursday, April 27

1:24 a.m. —Astronauts begin 8-hour rest period.

9:24 a.m. —Astronauts end rest period.

5:17 p.m. —Midcourse correction, if required.

Friday, April 28

12:54 a.m. —Astronauts begin 8-hour rest period.

8:54 a.m. —Astronauts end rest period.

12:17 p.m. —Midcourse correction, if required.

3:01 p.m. —Command module separates from its service module in preparation for reentry into Earth's atmosphere.

3:17 p.m. —Re-entry begins.

3:30 p.m. —Apollo 16 lands in the Pacific Ocean 1,150 miles south of Honolulu.

IRS can't figure out forms, either

By TOM HERMAN
Dow Jones—Ottaway News

Paul Farr, an executive at a small Atlanta education company considers himself handy with figures. Nevertheless, this year he drew the line at figuring, on his own, one set of calculations: his U.S. income tax return. Form 1040, he says, "gives me fits."

The return of Farr (not his real name) is no more complicated than that of millions of other U.S. taxpayers. He is married, has three dependent children and lives in a handsome frame-and-brick home that he bought late last year when he moved to Atlanta from a northern state as the result of a job change.

His 1971 income consisted of $22,560.14 from the two jobs, $5,600 from pension and profit-sharing plans, $81.53 in interest and $86.75 in dividends. He itemizes deductions.

Except for one year when he retained the services of an accounting firm, Farr has always prepared his own return. He wasn't pleased with the results that year. The advice, he says, turned out to be partially erroneous, and the accountants' bill came to $150.

This year, he considered taking his return to a commercial tax-preparation agency, which would cost less than the accountants, but he decided against this move when he heard that the Internal Revenue Service had launched a nationwide crackdown that resulted in dozens of arrests of allegedly dishonest commercial tax practitioners.

What, then, is a man to do? Noting the publicity the IRS has increasingly been giving its own taxpayer-assistance program, Farr decided that help from the service itself might be his solution.

Although the IRS won't fill out a taxpayer's form unless he is blind, disabled or illiterate, it will answer all tax questions free of charge and will show the taxpayer where the answers should be entered. And after all, Farr reasoned, who could be more expert in IRS matters than the IRS itself?

At the suggestion of this news service, Farr agreed to submit his questions to IRS offices in five different cities: Atlanta, Des Moines, New York, San Francisco and Rome, Ga.

I accompanied Farr on his visit to the Atlanta IRS; in the other four cities, I was alone and explained that I was a friend helping Farr with his return. The purpose of the multiple meetings was to test the depth and consistency of the IRS experts.

If consistency were to be judged on whether the offices said "we owe you" or "you owe us," the five IRS offices were consistent: All said the government owed Farr a refund.

The amount of the refund, however, was another matter, with a $307.04 difference separating the most generous office (New York) from the most niggardly (Atlanta). Their computations were as follows:

CITY	REFUND
Atlanta	$177.14
Des Moines	211.88
Rome, Ga.	338.04
San Francisco	394.68
New York	484.18

The disparity in the final results isn't surprising in view of the fact that the five IRS offices differed among each other in most of the steps taken to arrive at these results.

Most, for example, disagreed on a matter that might be considered basic and clear-cut: the number of forms necessary for Farr to fill out.

Jack O'Brian's

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — The Antoinette Perry Awards are with us again, better known as the Tony Awards; nominations all are in, ballots sent to us voters and the results will be viewed on TV. Here they are, with our own votes:

Best play nominees are Pinter's "Old Times," Neil Simon's "Prisoner of 2nd Ave.," David Rabe's "Sticks & Bones," "Vivat Regina" by Robert Bolt (of "Man for All Seasons" stage-screen fame). Our nod goes to "Prisoner of 2nd Ave.," a flawed play, its serious side overwhelming the comedy, its clowning eroding the drama. But it's the best this season.

Best musical: "Ain't Supposed to Die a Natural Death," "Follies," "Grease" and "Two Gentlemen of Verona." Our vote goes to "Follies," a superior musical any season; we shan't be unhappy if the happy "Two Gentlemen of Verona" rocks into the championship, but "Follies" is better.

Musical libretto: "Natural Death," "Follies," "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Two Gentlemen of Verona." Again our X goes on "Follies."

Best actor in a play: Tom Aldredge of "Sticks & Bones," Cliff Gorman of "Lenny," Donald Pleasence of "Wise Child" and Jason Robards of "Country Girl." Our vote to Cliff Gorman in "Lenny," a brutally phony drama but a dazzling star performance.

Best actress in a play: Eileen Atkins in "Vivat, Vivat Regina," Colleen Dewhurst in Albee's "All Over," Rosemary Harris in "Old Times," and Sada Thompson in "Twigs;" Rosemary Harris is best but Sada Thompson's four quick-change roles, more Owen McGivney-vaudeville trick than high acting, are in the running.

Best actor in a musical: Barry Bostwick of "Grease," Clifton Davis of "Two Gentlemen of Verona," Raul Julia of the same "Verona," Phil Silvers of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." Phil Silvers, by a smile.

Best actress in a musical: Jonelle Allen of "Verona," Dorothy Collins of "Follies," Mildred Natwick of "70 Girls 70," Alexis Smith of "Follies." The gals all have it, but Alexis Smith has it most.

Supporting actor in a play: Vincent Gardenia of "Prisoner," Douglas Rain of "Vivat," Lee Richardson of "Vivat," Joe Silver of "Lenny." The laurel should go to Vincent Gardenia.

Supporting actress in a play: Mercedes McCambridge of "The Love Suicide at Schofield Barracks," Cara Duff-MacCormick of "Moonchildren," Frances Sternhagen of "The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window" and Elizabeth Wilson of "Sticks & Bones." We hail Miss Wilson, superbly effective in an infuriating role.

Supporting actor in a musical: Larry Blyden of "Funny Thing," Timothy Myers of "Grease," Gene Nelson of "Follies," Ben Vereen of "Superstar." Ben Vereen is magnificiently effective in the theologically false reversed-Judas role, but the lack is in the script, not in Vereen.

Supporting actress, musical: Adrienne Barbeau in "Grease," Linda Hopkins of "Inner City," Bernadette Peters of "On the Town," Beatrice Winde of "Natural Death." Linda Hopkins is the class here, rising light years above a failed script.

Do we expect to have all our choices win? Of course; we always expect to have our X'es ratified and never quite make it. There are many stresses and imbalances in all theatrical voting.

Ann Landers

Phone folly

Dear Ann Landers: You've been a peach about allowing people to air their complaints in your column. How about a word in behalf of telephone repairmen? My husband is one and you can't believe some of the things he's been called on to do.

Yesterday, Horace was called to a fancy suburb because of phone trouble. They had phone trouble all right. When Horace asked where the phone was, the lady led him through the house and out the back door. Then she pointed to a large oak tree. Horace looked up and saw the telephone, cord and all, caught on one of the branches. It seems her husband had come home from work and his supper wasn't on the table. His wife was still yakking on the phone. He pulled the telephone out of the wall and threw it up into the tree.

A repairman's job is to fix the phone but he had to get it before he could fix it. So he got a ladder, retrieved the instrument and repaired it.

His attitude was wonderful: "It's all in a day's work."

No City Please

Dear N.C.P.: Sounds as if that lady's husband was temporarily disconnected. Thanks for letting us know how some guys react when there's no supper on the table. (Now will ya' get off the phone, girls?)

Dear Ann Landers: You frequently print letters which debunk superstition connected with medicine. I am always glad to see these letters because I realize you are using your space as a forum to educate millions.

It's amazing how many people still have crazy ideas about babies who are born with birthmarks — and what caused them. When pregnant women would come to me and repeat the scare stories they'd heard from some buttinsky ("Don't do this . . . don't do that . . . it will mark the baby"), I always told them to go back and report the story about the pregnant woman who had visited the zoo. Her baby was born with a deer face and a bear behind.

Spokane M.D.

Dear Doc: And I'll bet if she had slept in the stable the baby would have been a little horse. Thanks for writing, and 23 skidoo!

Unsafe sitter

By Jean Adams

UNSAFE "SITTER": (Q). My mother and father like to go out at night, but are afraid to leave me at home by myself. I am 14. They get my cousin to come over and "baby-sit" with me when they go out.

He is 15 and as soon as they go out the door he starts trying to make it with me. How can I tell my mother I don't want him here? I am more afraid of him than of being alone.

Afraid in Minnesota

(A). Your mother should sense such a possibility. Considering that she doesn't, you will just have to tell her outright that some other arrangement is urgently needed. Don't spare her any of the details.

DISCIPLINE: (Q). I was picked up for shoplifting. I have accepted all the punishment my parents have given me. I have told them it will never happen again, and I mean it. My punishment has been going on a week now. This is what it is:

1. I am grounded, not allowed to go anywhere. 2. I have to come home right after school. 3. I can't call anyone on the phone or get any calls from anybody else. 4. I can't go to the shopping center unless one of my parents is with me.

I don't know how long this will last. When I ask them they say, "When we think you've learned your lesson." I HAVE learned my lesson but they don't think so. If I were your son, how long would you ground me?

Male Prisoner in Louisiana

(A). Not more than a month. And if, I felt any time after a week that you had, as you say you have, learned your lesson, I would drop the disciplinary rules then.

When a special set of rules has done the work it was imposed to do, there is no point in holding it in force any longer. Doing so may cause more harm than good.

Remind your parents each day that you do not think the discipline is necessary any longer. If you believe something firmly and honestly, you can say it convincingly.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

It is undoubtedly better to be lucky than clever, and here is a hand to bear this out.

I played in the Reisinger team of four championship and was gazing at the North hand when my son Mike opened the bidding with a spade.

My four club response, by arrangement, indicated at the very least the values for game in spades, and at the same time specifically designated a singleton or void in clubs.

Mike bid four diamonds — to show the ace as well as to evince interest in a slam — and I happily went along by bidding five clubs to pinpoint a void in that suit.

Mike rebid his diamonds to show the king, and I continued to bid constructively by cue-bidding the ace of hearts. Mike thereupon showed third-round control of diamonds by bidding six of that suit, and I realized that he did not have second-round heart control, since he had failed to bid six hearts. So I settled for six spades.

As it happened, West led the king of clubs and we made seven for a score of 1,460 points.

It turned out that our scientific bidding was not well rewarded, because at the other table the bidding went:

Five notrump was the grand slam force, six clubs showed the ace of spades, and North's seven spade bid was an outright gamble based on the realistic fact that his team, at the moment, was miles behind in the match.

West failed to lead a heart and the outcome was that South made the grand slam for a score of 2,210 points. Luckily — and despite this hand — we still managed to win the match.

Area man injured in crash

STROUDSBURG — A Shawnee-on-Delaware man escaped serious injury late Tuesday night when his car crashed into the guardrail on Interstate Route 80 East and rolled over near the Park Avenue exit in Stroudsburg.

David Martin was treated and released at the General Hospital of Monroe County for injuries received in the mishap. His car, a late model station wagon, was demolished.

A Pennsylvania State Police investigator said Martin was traveling east on the highway and apparently began to drift into the left lane while negotiating a slight left turn. He then turned back into the right lane, evidently losing control of the vehicle at this point, and struck the guardrail on the south berm.

His car traveled a short distance along the steel retainer before flipping onto its roof and then traveled approximately 40 feet on its roof. The car came to rest inverted in the right lane and partially blocking the left lane.

East bound traffic was delayed for about 20 minutes until the vehicle was removed by Perry Brothers Texaco, of Stroudsburg.

Guilty verdict

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County juries Thursday found Willard Wentz, of Palmerton, guilty of larceny and Leonard Smith, of East Stroudsburg R.D., not guilty of operating under the influence.

Your tax problems

"Your Tax Problems" is published as a public service and is prepared by the Philadelphia District Office of the Internal Revenue Service. Send queries to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 401 N. Broad Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 19108. For personal replies give name and address.

Q. Last year I purchased a $5,000 certificate of deposit having a redemption value at maturity in three years of $5,960. Can I wait until this certificate matures before paying tax on the interest?

A. No. Starting January 1, 1971, deferred interest became taxable annually on a monthly pro rata basis if the maturity of the deposit or account is more than one year. For example, if you purchased the certificate of deposit on July 1, 1971, you must include in income $160 of the total deferred interest of $960 on your 1971 return.

Q. Are tips taxable?

A. Yes. All tips you receive are subject to Federal income tax. In addition, cash tips amounting to $20 or more that you receive in a month while working for any one employer must be reported to that employer so that income tax and social security tax may be withheld.

Q. I obtained a job last year through an employment agency and paid them a $750 fee. Is this deductible on my tax return?

A. Yes. Fees paid to an employment agency for successfully securing new employment are deductible. However, those fees paid merely for seeking employment are not deductible.

Q. Who is eligible to file as a "Head of Household?"

A. To qualify as a head of household and thus be eligible to compute your tax at the special rate, you must meet the following conditions:

(1) You must be unmarried (or legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance) on the last day of your taxable year;

(2) You must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative who must live with you (except for your parents), or be your dependent, or both;

(3) Your father or mother has to be your dependent, but need not live with you. Your unmarried child, grandchild, stepchild, or foster child must live with you but need not be your dependent. Any other relatives must both live with you and be your dependent.

For more information, see your tax form instructions.

Q. My grandfather died last year and left me 200 shares of stock he pruchased at $10 per share. The stock was worth $20 per share when he died. Do I have to pay tax on this inheritance or the amount the stock appreciated?

A. No. Bequests or inheritances you receive are not taxable. The amount the stock appreciated up to your grandfather's death is also not taxable as income. However, you are taxed on any further appreciation in the stock from that point when you eventually dispose of the stock.

Q. I damaged my car in an auto accident. Can I deduct this loss as a casualty loss?

A. Yes. The loss from uninsured damage incurred in an auto accident to the taxpayer's own automobile, if it was not caused by the willful act or willful negligence of the taxpayer, may be deductible as a casualty loss to the extent that each loss exceeds $100. The limitation does not apply if your car is used in your trade or business.

For details on how to compute a casualty loss deduction, write your IRS district office for a copy of IRS Publication 547, Tax Information on Disaster, Casualty Losses, and Thefts. It's available free.

Q. Are the costs of work clothes and uniforms deductible as employe business expenses?

A. Generally you may not deduct the cost and maintenance of work clothing. However, if your occupation requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment, its cost and maintenance are deductible if it is not adaptable to general or continued usage in place of ordinary clothing. Examples are special apparel and equipment required of firemen, police officers, letter carriers and nurses.

Q. I heard that there are five tests that must be met for a taxpayer to claim a person as a dependent. What are they?

A. For a person to qualify as your dependent for 1971 the following tests must be met:

(1) You must furnish over half of the dependent's total support during the calendar year;

(2) Unless the person is less than 19 years of age at the end of the year or a full-time student during five months of the year, you may not claim him as a dependent if his gross income is $675 or more;

(3) The person must be a member of your household and live with you for the entire year or be closely related to you;

(4) He must be a U.S. citizen or resident, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, Panama Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama for some part of the year;

(5) The person must not file a joint return unless one is not due but was filed merely to obtain a refund.

Q. Do I have to report interest from U.S. Savings Bonds on my federal income tax return?

A. Yes. Interest earned on your Savings Bonds is taxable and must be reported. However, if you are a cash basis taxpayer, you have the option of reporting the interest on Series "E" bonds each year as the redemption value increases or all at once when the bonds are redeemed, or mature, whichever is earlier. If you elect the yearly method of reporting, you must continue it for all future bond purchases.

the Poconos Have Everything . . . the Poconos are Close to Everything . . .

INSIDE THE WONDERFUL WORLD:
What It's All About
THE POCONOS: the Year Around Place to Live!
THE PLACE: To Make a Second Home!
THE POCONOS: Hub of the Eastern to Washington Megapolis!
LAND OF OPPORTUNITY: Within Shooting Distance of the Northeast's Major Metropolitan Centers!
THE POCONOS: Summer and Winter Playground of the Thriving Northeast!
A Great Place to Live, Work and Play!

Cover page — first edition of the Pocono Real Estate Review — published Saturday, April 25, 1970.

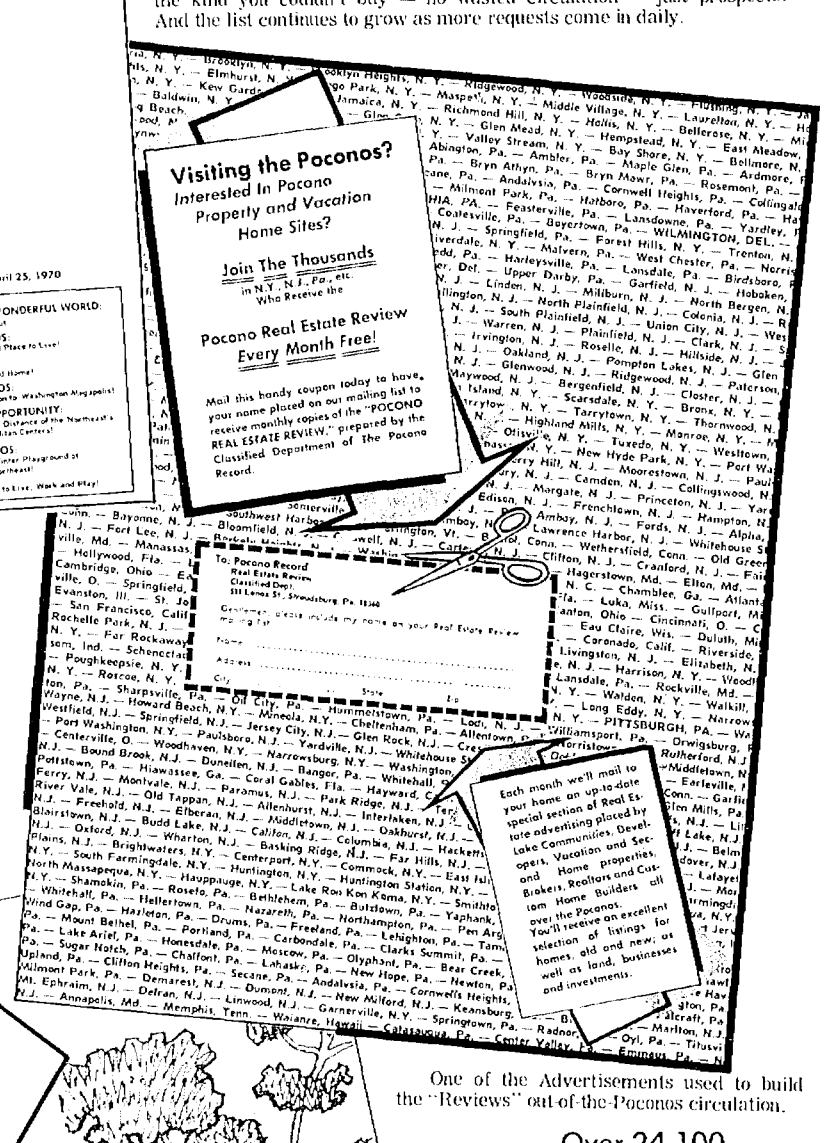
We've been "moving mountains" for two-years

. . . and getting bigger and better everyday!

STROUDSBURG, Pa. — Designed primarily to promote Pocono property, the Pocono Real Estate Review, in two-years, has become the main link between the Poconos and over 9,000 persons in the New York, New Jersey and Philadelphia metropolitan areas.

The Pocono Real Estate Review answers a particular need for both buyer and seller. It unique circulation consists of personal requests from persons who have expressed and interest in buying property or investing in property in the Poconos.

Developed over the past 27-months, this exclusive mailing list is the kind you couldn't buy — no wasted circulation — just prospects! And the list continues to grow as more requests come in daily.

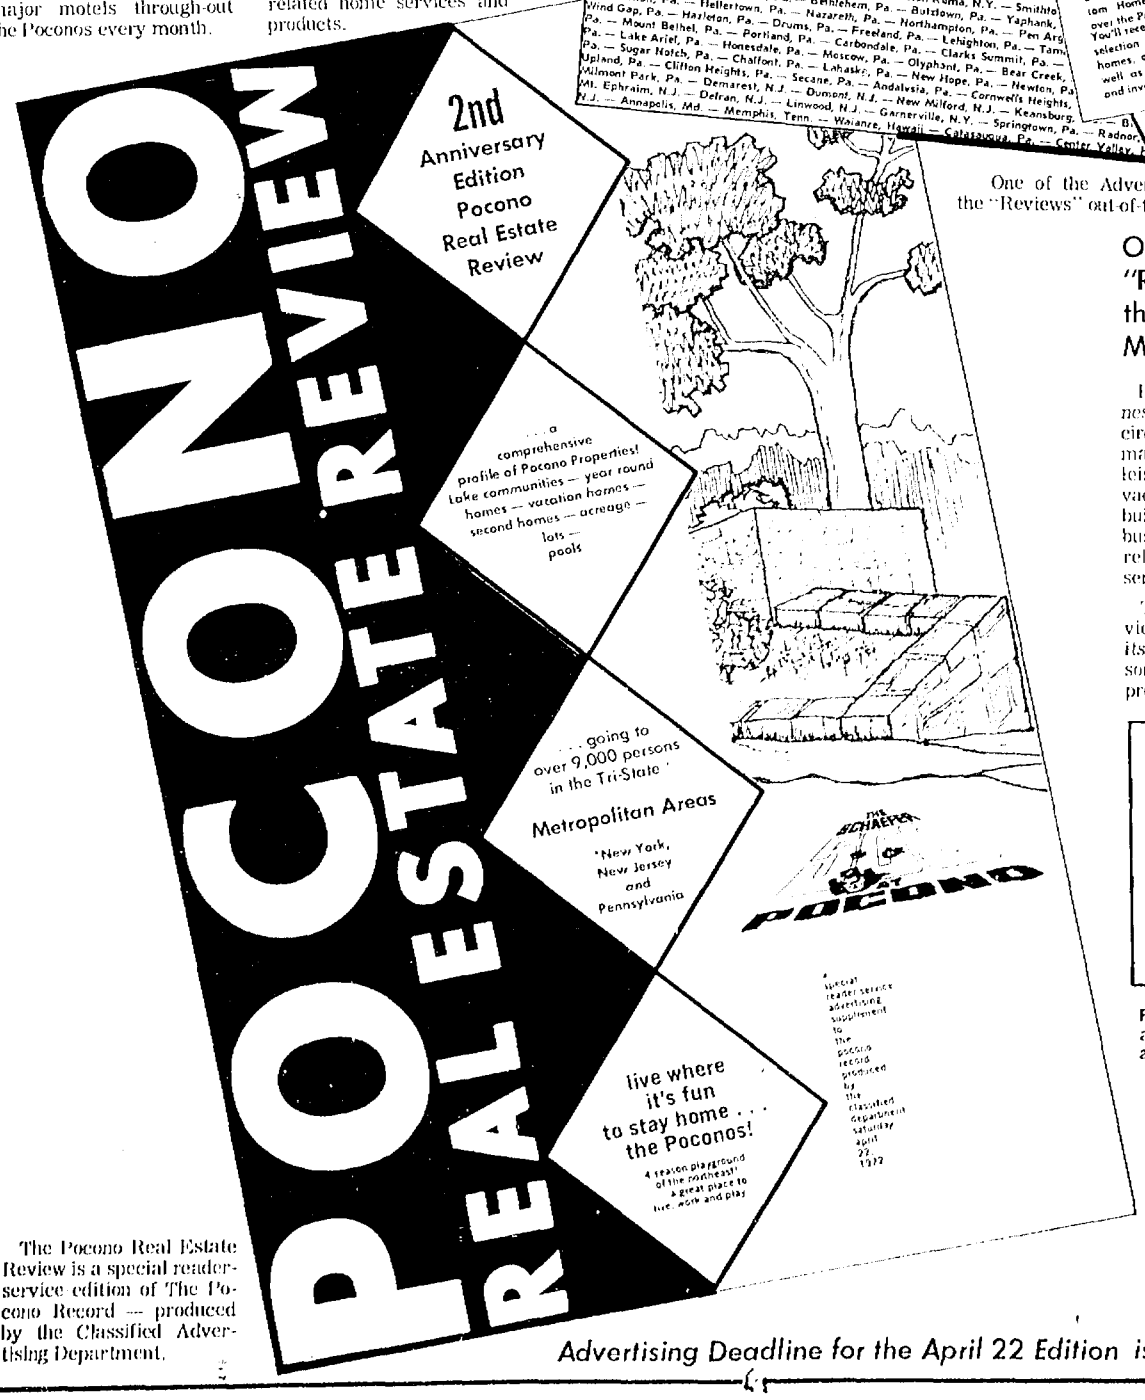


Four-way market coverage.

STROUDSBURG, Pa. — In addition to over 9,000 "out-of-the-Poconos" circulation the Pocono Real Estate Review supplies 500 copies to the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, over 1100 copies to the Delaware Water Gap Information Center, the Lake Wallenpaupack Information Center and major motels through-out the Poconos every month.

PLUS. . .the Pocono Real Estate Review is circulated on the day of publication to the 52,000 readers of The Pocono Record — complete saturation of the Poconos.

The "Review's" powerful market coverage is designed for all interested in selling properties, new homes and related home services and products.



One of the Advertisements used to build the "Reviews" out-of-the-Poconos circulation.

Over 24,100 "Reviews" promoting the Poconos Monthly.

Here is advertising effectiveness at its best . . . designed circulation in the East's three major markets for lake and leisure home communities, vacation, second and custom built homes, realtors, brokers, businesses, acreage, lots and related home products and services.

The Pocono Real Estate Review is the only publication of its kind to go directly to persons in the market for Pocono property.

The Pocono Real Estate Review is published monthly and mailed free — on request to Pocono property prospects in New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington . . . plus all 50 states, Canada and the Bahamas.

ARIES

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't yield to "wanderlust" or daydreaming when consistent effort at chores and other affairs is in order. You could be dilatory now without realizing it.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Effective action will win approval of associates. Intelligent discussion will help to crystallize next moves. Rational analysis of all issues important.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Where expedient, accelerate your pace, but where a slowing down is necessary, do not fight it and cause unrest. Emphasize poise and perseverance.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Step lightly, with measured gait. There may be a few delicate spots, perhaps a detour you can take. Don't chafe at roadblocks: take all with calmness and quiet deliberation.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A change in rhythm, a different pace may be in the making. Take steps to contribute to an already eminent record. The "little" things could steal the show.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Present aspects suggest keen observance of conditions and situations before launching new projects. Make certain that you know what you are about.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — New and gradually changing influences, trends indicated. You won't like them all immediately, but many are better than they appear at a glance. Study everything carefully.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Give your best, then await returns calmly. If crises arise, either within the family group or without, preserve equilibrium, perspective, humor.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Adopt a no-sooner-said-than-done policy if you would net top rewards now. A good day in which to try out new ideas, methods.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Some will be pleased, some won't — with results of your decisions, plans. Be careful to consider the opinions of all concerned in conclusions. Work for effectiveness.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Insure results by capitalizing upon your fine talents and energies, and keep your pace constant but not hectic. In all effort, keep the future in mind.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Serious thought should be given to serious steps. Insufficient knowledge is no excuse for failure. Do not try to justify the flaws in your thinking. Eliminate them.

YOU BORN TODAY are a progressive, straight-thinking individual, with both the will and the stamina to work toward the highest goals. You are extremely self-reliant and independent. Also, being one of the rare persons who combine great artistry with practicality, you could succeed in either the business or art worlds, depending upon your leanings and education, of course. In business, you would do best as an executive or promoter; would also make a successful banker. Creatively, you could shine as a writer, painter or musician. Birthdate of: Leonardo da Vinci, renowned Italian artist; Henry James, American author; Elizabeth Montgomery, TV star.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 8 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 4-15

LLOYD'S OF PENNSYLVANIA

Many people ask us, "How can you build a 3-bedroom, all aluminum home, for $14,990." It's a logical question because you generally relate quality with price. With most products there is a definite relationship, but in our case we believe you will be interested to know how we can build and sell our quality home at the low price which we do.

FIRST, we build 20 different style homes. They are not pre-cut, pre-fabricated but custom built. Our construction crews are thoroughly trained on OUR HOMES, which result in great labor savings.

SECOND, when you build as many homes as we do (We're one of Northeast Pa.'s LARGEST BUILDERS), we buy a large amount of materials and our savings are consequently great, which is reflected in the selling price of our homes.

THIRD, we are experienced. After years of building in this area we feel now that we have the finest and most efficiently laid out home that we can come up with at such a low price.

FOURTH, we are the only builder in the area that will give you a guaranteed starting date in writing, along with a guaranteed completion date in writing.

LASTLY, we try hard. We are vitally interested in our customers and want to build them a home that both of us can be proud of.

WE WILL be happy to have you visit our model homes and see just what we put into a home. We will be glad to answer any of your questions and try to be of service to you in any way we can.
